Plan New Wave Of Antiwar Protests April 15

CLEVELAND (AP) — The uneasy alliance that forged massive peace marches last November in Washington and San Francisco is joining again for a new wave of antiwar actions April 15.

The outlines for the concerted action emerged Sunday as the Student Mobilization Committee capped a raucous weekend conference by voting to make April 15 the highlight of its spring offensive.

The same day—the deadline for the filing of federal income tax returns—had already been chosen as an action day by both the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam and the Vietnam Moratorium Committee.

All three groups worked together in building the Nov. 15 demonstrations, which attracted hundreds of thousands of marchers in a demand for immediate withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam.

The April 15th action, instead of being directed at one or two major cities, will be nationwide with the liberal-led Moratorium concentrating on taxpayer rallies "to focus on the issue of taxation and the disproportionate expenditures of the government on the war and the military in general."

The New Mobe is also seeking to link the war with inflation and taxes in a call for massive demonstrations on the 15th.

Both groups had observers at the conference which adopted a proposal by SMC National Secretary Carol Lipman for "massive student actions and strikes in the colleges and high schools across the country" April 15.

Miss Lipman's proposal, which carried over the strenuous opposition from an independent radical group, remained focused on the slogan,

"Bring All the GI's Home Now."

It stopped short of attacks on what the unaligned radicals call U.S. imperialism, and made no special appeals to either the working class or the black community—elements the radicals say must be included if any broad-based peace movement is to be created.

The proposal also avoided an appeal for nonviolent civil disobedience—a tactic the New Mobe, itself a coalition of radicals, liberals and Communists, is considering for a March campaign against the draft.

The focus for the opposition came in a debate over the slogan, "Bring All the GI's Home Now."

"We are opposed to the slogan," said radical writer Clark Kissingner of Chicago. "This has to be a manifestation of a white blind spot. What we want is a slogan that identifies with the principal enemy in the world today—U.S. imperialism—and not a sob sister appeal or a pacifist appeal to bring American boys home so they won't get shot up in the jungles of Vietnam."

Kissingner and the independent radicals called instead for the slogan, "Get the U.S. out of Vietnam Now."

400 Planes Join Attacks Against Viets

SAIGON (AP) — More than 400 American fighter-bombers attacked North Vietnamese troops, trucks and supply lines in eastern Laos Sunday in some of the heaviest air raids ever flown in Southeast Asia.

One propeller-driven A1E Skyraider was shot down over the Plain of Jars and the American pilot was presumed killed, sources in Vientiane said.

Sources in Saigon said the raids were a two-pronged aerial offensive against North Vietnamese forces. Some were in support of Laotian government forces on the Plain of Jars, which is under North Vietnamese attack. Other raids were against the Ho Chi Minh trail farther east to slow the movement of North Vietnamese troops and supplies into South Vietnam.

The sources said the planes came from two 7th Fleet carriers in the Tonkin Gulf and half a dozen bases in Thailand and South Vietnam. Most were F4 Phantom and F105 Thunderchief fighter-bombers, which carry 10,000 to 15,000 pounds of bombs.

The Strategic Air Command's B52 bombers, which carry four to six times that bomb load, also pounded North Vietnamese supply depots in eastern Laos. Several B52 missions were reported along the border.

Across the border in South Vietnam, allied forces battered a mixed North Vietnamese and Viet Cong battalion in sand dunes and rice paddies south of Da Nang, killing 182 of the enemy soldiers and capturing 16, military spokesmen claimed today. Field reports put government troops at the border.

ANY excuse is a good excuse for a party... Judge William Ammer and Auditor Marvin Rhodes co-hosted "An Appreciation Party" Monday in the offices of the county auditor... Without asking, "in appreciation of what?" Roundtown just enjoyed the party.

Laird Sees Viet Cutbacks To Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and the nation's top soldier see continuing U.S. troop withdrawals in Vietnam though the South Vietnamese army may suffer battlefield setbacks.

"I know of no war where one side has won all the battles," said Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. "I can visualize the enemy exercising his capability... and concentrating against some unit of the South Vietnamese forces perhaps and inflicting defeat on it."

Both men talked to newsmen Sunday at Andrews Air Force Base, after a three-day tour of the war zone. They are expected to report to President Nixon Tuesday.

"I look forward to continuing troop reductions based upon the Vietnamization program," said Laird, refraining from pinpointing additional troop cuts beyond the latest of 50,000 men to be completed April 15.

Wheeler said he did not believe the enemy could sustain an offensive. The enemy can strike at certain places, he said, and a critical area is the jungled approach to Saigon from the Cambodian border.

Laird said he thought it would not be necessary for a U.S. unit to return to the scene of a South Vietnamese defeat. "I believe the South Vietnamese have adequate backup capability to handle these situations," he added.

President Nixon's 'State Of World' Message Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will propose new initiatives for bettering American-Soviet relations in his first-of-its-kind "global report" this week based on the theme of a "new strategy for peace."

Nixon, back from a four-day Florida holiday, will send the extraordinary, 25,000-word document to Congress Wednesday, outlining U.S. foreign policy—including Vietnam—from when he took office, and carrying it into the future.

White House informants who had advance knowledge indicated ed Nixon would set out new proposals for settling long-standing East-West disputes.

They suggested the report also would encompass areas of mutual concern such as the Israeli-Arab conflict.

Informants indicated the new proposals would center directly on relations between the United States and Soviet Union. However, the sources would provide no specifics on what the chief executive had in mind.

Nixon flew from the sunshine of Florida and the Bahamas to chilly, snowy Washington Sunday night.

His only announced appointment for today was a morning ceremony in the East Room to present the 1969 national medals of science.

The chief executive spent Saturday night and most of Sunday at the Bahamian island of New York industrialist Robert H. Abplanalp.

While away from the capital, the chief executive completed work in his global review.

On Saturday, Nixon announced that toxins have joined bacteriological weapons on the list of military items the United States will ban from its arsenal.

A high White House official, declining to be quoted by name, said omission of toxins from a Nov. 25 order banning bacteriological weaponry "was a slip-up."

Research on toxins now will be confined to defensive preparations, such as the search for improved vaccines. All stockpiled toxic weapons will be destroyed. The same policy applies to bacteriological agents.

The source said that while the new move was not directly related to strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union, "It is a testimony to the spirit with which we approach these negotiations."

Woman Being Held In Husband's Death

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Jeanette Ellen Moss, 44, was ordered held in Delaware County Jail under $25,000 bond after entering no plea Saturday to a second-degree murder charge.

Mrs. Moss is charged in the Friday night shooting of her husband, Robert, 52, after an argument. The couple had five children.

Census Bureau Says Population Shift Slower

WASHINGTON (AP) — People have not moved from state to state as expected, says the Census Bureau in revising its forecast for nine state delegations to the House of Representatives.

California will gain four instead of the six seats originally estimated in the 1967 bureau forecast which was pegged to migration trends of the early 1960s.

"The migration from state to state has changed from those trends," says the bureau director, Dr. George Hay Brown. "California has not been gaining as much, and states with outmigration have not been losing as much."

The fresh bureau forecasts are based on a July 1, 1969, estimate of state populations. The actual census of April 1, 1970, will set the basis for redistribution.

State Seeks Aid For Police Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state is seeking federal assistance for a $141,670 project to open a campus police training program at Kent State University.

Ohio Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown has asked the State Urban Affairs Department for an initial allocation of $20,000. If federal money is available, Brown said the course, involving 31 students, would begin Sept. 16 and run through June 15, 1971.

Brown said Kent State's Institute of Government Research and Service would oversee the program aimed at training more qualified campus policemen to act as deterrents to crime at Ohio colleges.

Oil Slick In Tampa Bay Now Said Out Of Control

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Pollution experts fighting to keep a 100-square-mile oil slick from spreading have thrown in the towel in their uneven battle against wind and tide.

They now are concentrating on keeping the oil bottled up in Tampa Bay and away from tourist-packed Gulf Coast beaches.

"There's nothing we can do to stop the spread of the oil," Capt. Anthony Fugaro of the Coast Guard said Sunday. "It's just gotten too big for us to handle."

The oil was released when the Greek tanker Delian Apollon ran aground Friday. Boat owners lined up to haul their oil-coated craft away as the slick poked into public and private marinas.

By Sunday night, oil was beginning to dot the waters of Boca Ciega Bay between the mainland and the hotel-spotted island of St. Petersburg Beach. The slick was concentrated originally in a mass about five miles in diameter, but now laps stickily at 20 miles of shoreline along the eastern side of the Pinellas Peninsula.

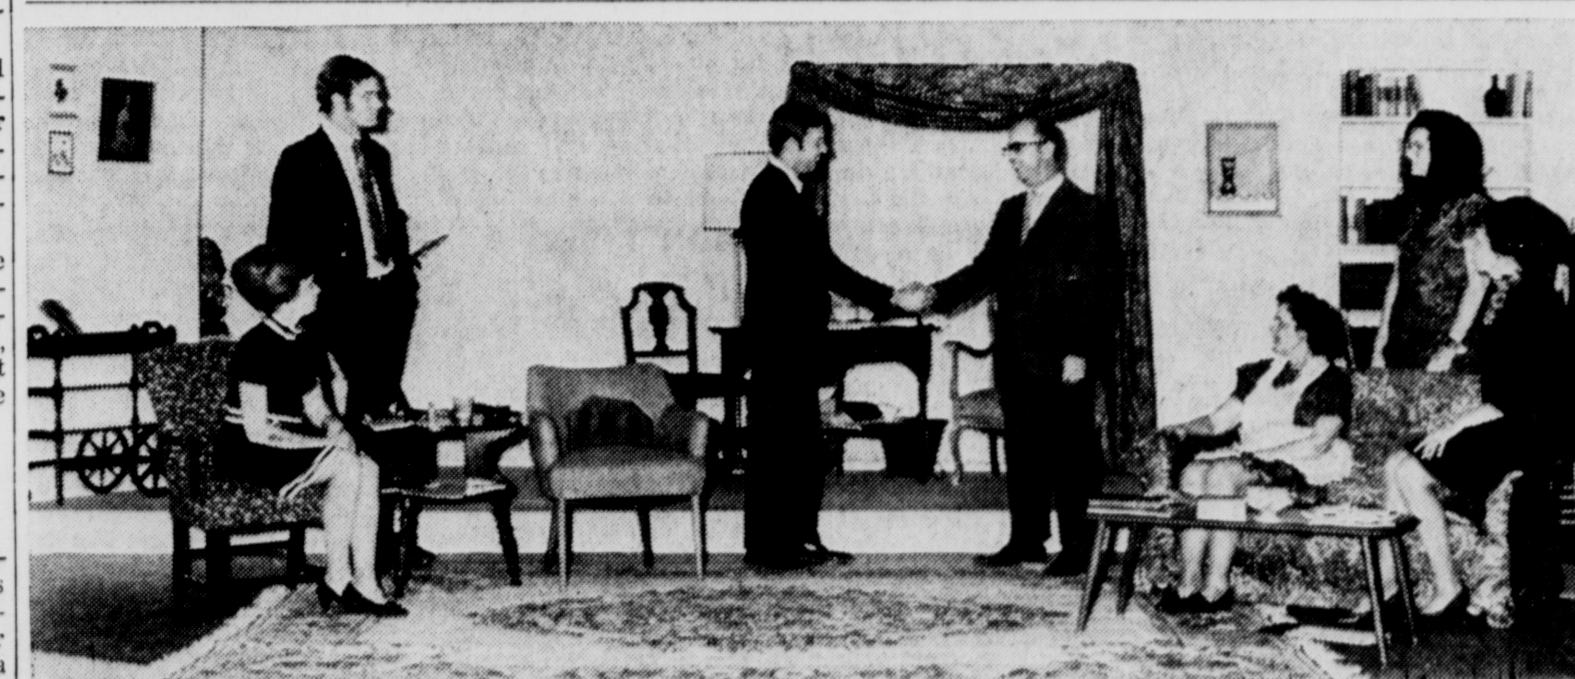

The blanket of viscous bunker-C fuel oil ranged in thickness from a coating like grease on top of soup to ugly blotches six inches thick.

The tanker at first was believed to have lost 5,000 gallons, but Fugaro said Sunday he believed more than 10,000 gallons burst into the bay through several holes in the tanker's hull.

The Delian Apollon, registered in Greece, is owned by J. C. Carris and Sons, Ltd., of London, England, and was chartered to Humble Oil Co.

CURTAIN UP AT MEMORIAL HALL — Roundtown players production of "The Absence of a Cello" will open 8:30 p.m. Friday in the Memorial Hall Auditorium, Main and Pickaway Sts. The three-act comedy will also be staged Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon. Pictured here on the newly renovated stage in a scene from the play are, left to right, Lois Smith, Bill Chandler, H. Jury Ponders Chicago 7 Verdict; Contempt Terms Given

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal jury went into a third day of deliberations today on the fate of seven men charged with riot conspiracy but the defendants are already in jail and one of their lawyers has been sentenced to four years in prison for contempt.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U.S. District Court finished fixing sentences on the defendants for contempt Sunday, then turned to lawyers William M.

Kunstler, and Leonard I. Weinglass. Kunstler, 50, of New York City was sentenced to 48 months and 13 days on 24 counts of contempt. Weinglass, 36, of Newark, N.J., was sentenced to 20 months and 5 days in prison on 14 counts.

The judge characterized as "reprehensible conduct," the actions of the lawyers for the seven men charged with conspiracy to incite rioting at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

He stayed execution of the lawyers' sentences to May 4 to allow them to perform legal duties for their clients, being held in the federal tier of Cook County Jail during the jury deliberations.

If convicted of conspiracy, each man faces a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $20,000 fine. The judge denied motions to free the seven on bond pending appeal of the contempt charges.

Weinglass told newsmen Sunday night that he was optimistic because the jury had not reached a quick verdict.

"I was very pessimistic at the beginning of the trial but I think that now that the jury has been out some time there is a reasonable likelihood of an acquittal or a hung jury," he said.

The jury was locked up shortly after noon Saturday and the judge promptly began his contempt citations.

He sent four defendants to jail Saturday and sentenced the remaining three Sunday. Defendants' sentences ranged from 29 months and 16 days for David T. Delliger, 54, down to 2 months and 18 days for Lee Weiner, 31. Delliger was cited on 32 counts and Weiner on 7 counts.

Weiner's mother, Mrs. Ruth Weiner, was reported in fair condition today at a hospital where she was admitted Sunday after taking an overdose of drugs. She and Weiner's father were in the courtroom when their son was ordered to jail.

Jerry C. Rubin, 31, was sentenced to 25 months and 23 days on 15 counts; John R. Froines, 31, received 6 months and 15 days on 10 counts; Thomas E. Hayden, 30, sentenced to 14 months and 14 days on 11 counts; Rennard C. "Rennie" tered in Greece, is owned by J. C. Carris and Sons, Ltd., of London, England, and was chartered to Humble Oil Co.

Hundreds of Pinellas County residents turned out to help the local Audubon Society's frantic effort to save as many water birds as possible. Boy Scouts combed the waterline and plucked half-dead grebes, pelicans, ducks and other birds from the muck.

The exhausted birds were taken to Lake Maggiore, where a bird-washing assembly line was set up to clean the animals with salad oil and corn meal.

The Audubon Society estimated more than 1,000 birds died along a 10-mile stretch of shore. Crews spread thousands of feet of slick boom, a kind of floating upside down fence, to keep the oil inside Tampa Bay.

They feared the oil would be carried offshore by outgoing tides, then pushed back in to smother white-sand beaches along the Gulf Coast islands.

Federal, state and local pollution experts who met in emergency session Sunday concluded it was too late to do anything with the oil until it washed up on shore.

Draft System Operating Without Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in over 28 years the Selective Service System operated today without a director—in other words, without Gen. Lewis B. Hershey.

Wrestling with an unfamiliar new lottery method and facing Senate review of the whole draft system, the administration has fallen back on the caretaking skills of the system's headquarters staff.

Hershey, draft director since 1941, was reassigned effective today as the President's Advisor on Manpower Mobilization.

And the White House has found it impossible, in the four months since his reassignment was announced, to replace the 76-year-old general.

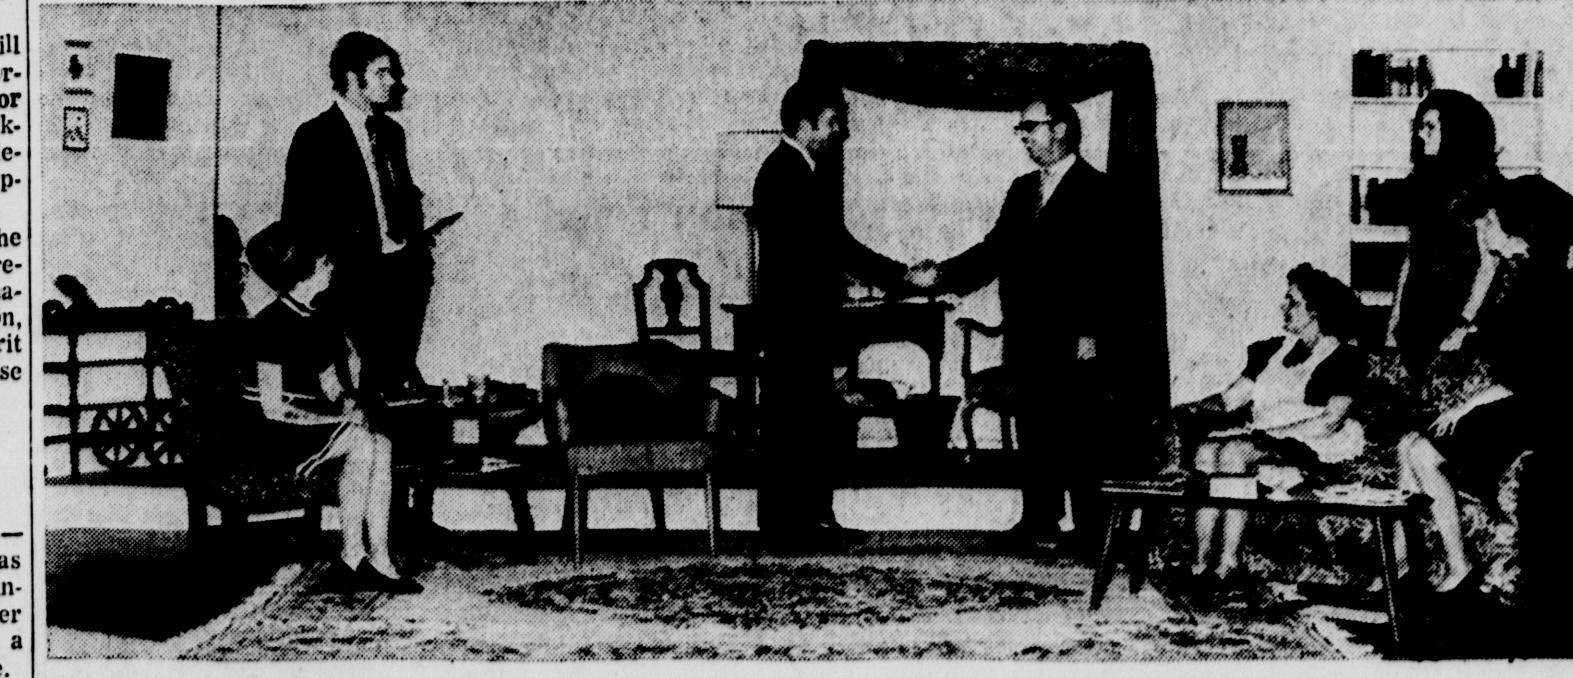

Back on Oct. 10 when he disclosed the decision, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler added, "We will announce in coming days a deputy director of the Selective Service System who will become director when Gen. Hershey assumes his new job."

By December, Ziegler was saying the appointment would come "as soon as possible."

Senate Panel Votes 12-4 To OK Carswell Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved by a vote of 12 to 4 today the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., told newsmen that the committee's majority report recommending Carswell's confirmation will be filed in the Senate later today.

The senators voting against approval of Carswell's nomination were all Democrats—Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Birch Bayh of Indiana and Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland.

Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., passed without voting when the roll was called in the closed-door meeting.

Eastland also announced that the committee had agreed to vote by April 24 on a proposed constitutional amendment providing for the election of the president and vice president by direct popular vote.

Bayh, chief Senate sponsor of the direct election plan, had insisted at an earlier meeting of the committee that a time be fixed for voting on it before the committee voted on the nomination of Carswell.

Up to today, there had been no public, stated opposition from any committee members. However, six other senators have announced they will vote against the nomination when it reaches the floor.

The latest was Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., who said Sunday night he was "appalled by the mediocrity of Carswell's nomination."

Carswell, now a judge on the U.S. 5th Court of Appeals "was and is a white supremacist," Williams said.

President Nixon nominated Carswell Jan. 19 after his earlier selection of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., of Greenville, S.C., was rejected by a 55-45 Senate vote.

The Judiciary Committee concluded its hearings on Carswell's nomination Feb. 3, but at a closed door meeting immediately afterward Bayh objected to voting unless an agreement was reached first on acting on the proposed electoral reform amendment.

ing 435 House seats for the 1972 elections.

The new estimates also indicate Florida will gain two seats, and Arizona, Texas and Colorado one each. This would make California's delegation the largest at 42. New York would be next at 39.

New York and Pennsylvania are expected to lose two seats each, and North Dakota, West Virginia, Ohio, Iowa, and Wisconsin one each.

Gains or losses forecast for Arizona, Florida, Texas, North Dakota, West Virginia, Iowa, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin are unchanged from a bureau table dated March 7, 1967.

But at that time, the bureau forecast California would gain six seats, New Jersey would gain one and Connecticut would possibly gain one. The bureau didn't mention Colorado. It predicted one-seat losses for Illinois, Michigan, New York and Oklahoma, and said Ohio would lose one and possibly two seats.

Now, New Jersey, Connecticut, Illinois, Michigan and Oklahoma are expected to show no gain or loss.

Political effects of seat redistribution are significant—especially for current House members who are thrown into the same district in states losing seats.

Legislatures within each state will reapportion districts based on the new distribution and 1970 census figures. Most states, even if their number of representatives does not change, will have to reapportion because of one-man, one-vote court decisions.

Both political parties are concentrating more than usual on 1970 state legislature elections since the controlling party will have the advantage of drawing new districts in its favor.

Congress Returns To Work; School Issue To Be Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress returned from a five-day holiday today to confront the politically explosive issue of public school desegregation—North and South.

The Senate votes begin Tuesday on Southern-sponsored amendments to a $35 billion education bill with some Northern senators on a political spot, and the White House position a study in ambiguity.

President Nixon is said by the White House to believe school desegregation should be applied equally throughout the nation.

That appeared to align the administration with the theory of an amendment proposed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., to require equal enforcement of federal regulations no matter what the reason for segregation in the schools.

While the White House endorsed the concept of equal school desegregation pressures.

Burglaries Investigated In Ashville

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department is investigating two thefts that occurred in Ashville during the weekend.

The Brown Implement Co. and Fortner's Garage were both burglarized.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover said that an estimated $10 in change plus approximately $190 worth of tools were taken from the garage.

A radio valued at $35 and an estimated $25 in change were taken from the implement firm. In both instances, a window was broken to gain entry into the buildings.

Ashville Marshal Glen Clay assisted in the investigation.

Five Injured In Two-Car Accident

A two car collision resulted in injuries to five persons at 2:35 p.m. Sunday on State Route 316 just east of Route 23.

William Nyhart, 16, Ashville, Randy Smith, 17, Millport, and James A. Dean, 18, Route 3, all sustained head lacerations and were treated in the emergency room at Berger Hospital. Another passenger in the Dean car, David Robert Dean, 15, also received injuries but was not treated.

David Booth, 18, Ashville driver of the other vehicle was treated at the hospital for numerous contusions and abrasions.

Dean pulled from Canal Street making a left turn onto 316. He was struck broadside by Booth, who was westbound on the highway. Damage to Booth's auto was estimated at $1,800 and to the Dean auto at $100.

Neither driver was cited by investigating Highway Patrolman.

Alliance Youth Held In Slaying Of 18-Year-Old

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Thomas Sacco, 17, of Alliance was being held today on murder and intent-to-kill charges in connection with the weekend slaying of one youth and the wounding of another.

Police charged Sacco with first-degree murder in the death of 18-year-old Michael Ritchey, who was wounded fatally Saturday night in a shooting outside Sacco's house.

Ritchey and Michael Dugan, 19, of Alliance, followed Sacco home following an argument at a drive-in restaurant, police said.

Dugan, wounded in the shootings, was reported in fair to good condition at Alliance City Hospital.

Woman Fined In Muny Court

Fido's freedom was the basis of the charge leveled against a Circleville woman in Municipal Court.

Judge Lamb fined Joy McCabe, 513 E. Franklin St., $10 plus costs for failure to keep her dog confined to her property.

Lenna M. Buskirk, 68, was cited for driving without a valid operator's license when her license had expired late last year. Her $25 fine was suspended.

Permit Sought

Robert Dick, 341 E. Franklin St., has applied for a carryout permit to sell six per cent beer and wine at the Dam Shack in Monroe Twp. The State Department of Liquor Control has announced.

it did not publicly support specifically the Stennis amendment.

The amendment is designed to take in Northern schools where attendance reflects white or black housing patterns, as well as Southern schools which deliberately maintain racial separation.

One Northern liberal, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., has already endorsed the amendment.

Actually, the Senate will vote first on another Stennis amendment, this one upholding freedom of choice school attendance, and barring the busing of pupils for the sake of integration unless the elected school board approves.

That amendment appears to have little chance.

Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., chairman of the House Rules Committee, has asked Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch to appear before that panel Tuesday to discuss desegregation.

Colmer seeks a report on federal policies toward busing, freedom of choice plans, and other issues involved in the school desegregation situation.

The Finch testimony was requested in connection with the coming House vote on appropriations for his agency and the Department of Labor, as part of a bill to supplant the measure vetoed by President Nixon.

A new version of that bill was expected to clear the House Appropriations Committee today, with its spending level reduced by about $500 million.

Both Coasts Experience Cold Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Both coasts were experiencing nasty winter weather as the new week began across the nation.

Snow was falling in the Northeast, with travelers warnings over the New England states and heavy snow warnings up in Maine.

Rain extended from the Virginias to Louisiana with thunderstorms dotting the states ordering the central Gulf area. Rainfall in excess of one inch was reported from both Montgomery and Mobile, Ala., in a six-hour span Sunday.

Freezing rain put a glaze on highways in western Tennessee causing hazardous driving, while rains in West Virginia melted snow causing streams to overflow.

In the West, rain continued to sweep inland from the coast to the northern Rockies. Travelers warnings were up for the Sierras of Northern California, along with threats of heavy snows at the higher elevations.

Gale warnings were hoisted along the coastline from north-west California to Washington. Cape Blanco, Ore., was lashed Sunday night with hurricane force winds reaching 86 miles per hour.

Things looked considerably better in the midlands with only light snow flurries.

Subzero weather reached from the Dakotas to northern Michigan early today with light snow flurries reported scattered through the Great Lakes region.

Mild weather was confined to the far Southwest and southern most reaches of the Southwest. Predawn temperatures ranged from 20 below zero at Hibbing, Minn., to 73 at Miami, Fla.

BULLETIN

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Boeing 727 en route from Newark, N.J. to Miami was hijacked near Jacksonville, Fla. today and reported heading for Cuba, the Federal Aviation Administration here said.

An FAA spokesman said the aircraft, Eastern Flight 1, was about 150 miles east of Jacksonville when the pilot reported at 12:05 EST he was headed to Cuba.

400 Planes

ment losses at 12 killed and 31 wounded.

Spokesmen said a total of 280 enemy soldiers had been killed and 40 captured during the five-day operation. Thirty-one South Vietnamese were reported killed and 82 wounded.

"It was really hairy for a few minutes," said Sgt. Harry B. Moats, 19, of Decatur, Ala., an adviser to the South Vietnamese 1st Armored Brigade. "We were about 20 feet apart and throwing hand grenades at each other."

"While all this was going on, the armored personnel carriers blasted them with .50-caliber fire every time they came out of their spider holes. The rest of the day we just chased them across the sand dunes into the rice paddies and trapped them in the trees."

The enemy dead included the battalion commander, his executive officer, a company commander and an assistant company commander. Among the prisoners were a second company commander and a political officer. Nearly 50 weapons were seized.

"We are certain we destroyed that battalion," said Col. Than Hoa Hiep, commander of the South Vietnamese 1st Armored Brigade.

Hiep said the sapper-commando battalion had planned to attack Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, either before or during the Vietnamese lunar new year Feb. 6. He said the battalion instead pulled back because it was under strength.

Hiep said the battalion apparently was awaiting replacements when the 2,000-man South Vietnamese task force trapped it along the Ly Ly River. Sunday's battle was the biggest in the region this year.

The U.S. Command said two American helicopters were shot down Sunday in other parts of the country. One American was killed and three wounded.

U.S. Backs Germ Pact

GENEVA (AP) — The United States today pledged support for Britain's draft treaty to outlaw germ warfare.

Arriving for a new session of the 25-nation disarmament conference, chief U.S. negotiator Gerard C. Smith told newsmen that America does not have a proposal of its own on the issue of bacteriological weapons.

"We associate ourselves with the British proposal," he said in a prepared statement. "I hope that early progress can be made on an agreement to ban biological methods of warfare, along the lines proposed last year by the United Kingdom."

The British draft treaty calls for a ban on the manufacture, stockpiling and use of "microbial and other biological agents." Last November, President Nixon renounced the development of all germ warfare weapons and gave orders for the disposal of stockpiles.

Whiplash "Cervical Myofascitis"

A young woman writes: "Nineteen months ago, I suffered a whiplash injury and since have been in almost constant misery. I have severe neck and chest pains and suffer with violent sick headaches and sometimes a wave of nausea sweeps over my stomach. If I turn my head too quickly or put a little pressure on my head or neck, I feel some discomfort. Doctor, can chiropractic help an injury resulting from a whiplash type of blow?"

These are some of the more common symptoms resulting from a whiplash type blow and Doctors of Chiropractic are not unaware of these cases in their offices. Symptoms are usually localized to the spine and nervous system and surrounding tissues of which the chiropractor specializes.

The following is just a case from the files:

A forty-six year old female rushed into a chiropractor's office crying and holding her head exclaiming, "The top of my head is coming off — please do something!"

Emergency treatment was rendered and within a few minutes her head eased for the first time in two weeks.

She had these symptoms, along with neck, shoulder, and arm pains, but nothing seemed to help. And lately, her arm, leg, and foot tingled. After an examination and case history, it was revealed, several years ago, she had an auto accident and suffered a whiplash type blow to her cervical spine.

X-rays were immediately taken and several displaced vertebrae in her neck and between her shoulders were found. These misaligned vertebrae compressed spinal nerve trunks, causing her miserable pains. After complete correction of the cause, her symptoms vanished.

This woman suffered unnecessary pain for years because she neglected a chiropractic examination at the time of her accident. This could have been prevented and she would have lived a much happier, healthier life.

The chiropractic profession urges a spinal examination by your chiropractor after any auto accident. Insurance companies honor chiropractic claims.

Stock Market Up Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, with a lack of encouraging news to feed upon, managed only a small gain early this afternoon.

Trading was moderately active.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 0.92 to 754.22.

Advances outnumbered declines by about 200 among individual issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said there was nothing of consequence to bring institutional and individual investors in from the sidelines, but some expressed the opinion that the market's long decline might well have hit bottom.

Glamour stocks, which have been battered recently, were turning in a generally good performance.

The Big Board delayed opening of trading of Jersey Standard, which had set a price of $45 a share for its rights offering to stockholders. The issue closed at 52, off ¼, Friday. It opened later today at 51 ½ at 50 ½.

Parvins-Dohrmann, in which trading has been suspended on the American Stock Exchange since last Oct. 13, opened with a plunge of 38 ½ to 31.

Congress Returns To Work; School Issue To Be Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress returned from a five-day holiday today to confront the politically explosive issue of public school desegregation—North and South.

The Senate votes begin Tuesday on Southern-sponsored amendments to a $35 billion education bill with some Northern senators on a political spot, and the White House position a study in ambiguity.

President Nixon is said by the White House to believe school desegregation should be applied equally throughout the nation.

That appeared to align the administration with the theory of an amendment proposed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., to require equal enforcement of federal regulations no matter what the reason for segregation in the schools.

While the White House endorsed the concept of equal school desegregation pressures.

Burglaries Investigated In Ashville

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department is investigating two thefts that occurred in Ashville during the weekend.

The Brown Implement Co. and Fortner's Garage were both burglarized.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover said that an estimated $10 in change plus approximately $190 worth of tools were taken from the garage.

A radio valued at $35 and an estimated $25 in change were taken from the implement firm.

In both instances, a window was broken to gain entry into the buildings.

Ashville Marshal Glen Clay assisted in the investigation.

Five Injured In Two-Car Accident

A two car collision resulted in injuries to five persons at 2:35 p.m. Sunday on State Route 316 just east of Route 23.

William Nyhart, 16, Ashville, Randy Smith, 17, Millport, and James A. Dean, 18, Route 3, all sustained head lacerations and were treated in the emergency room at Berger Hospital. Another passenger in the Dean car, David Robert Dean, 15, also received injuries but was not treated.

David Booth, 18, Ashville driver of the other vehicle was treated at the hospital for numerous contusions and abrasions.

Dean pulled from Canal Street making a left turn onto 316. He was struck broadside by Booth, who was westbound on the highway. Damage to Booth's auto was estimated at $1,800 and to the Dean auto at $100.

Neither driver was cited by investigating Highway Patrolman.

BULLETIN

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Boeing 727 en route from Newark, N.J. to Miami was hijacked near Jacksonville, Fla. today and reported heading for Cuba, the Federal Aviation Administration here said.

An FAA spokesman said the aircraft, Eastern Flight 1, was about 150 miles east of Jacksonville when the pilot reported at 12:05 EST he was headed to Cuba.

ment losses at 12 killed and 31 wounded.

Spokesmen said a total of 280 enemy soldiers had been killed and 40 captured during the five-day operation. Thirty-one South Vietnamese were reported killed and 82 wounded.

"It was really hairy for a few minutes," said Sgt. Harry B. Moats, 19, of Decatur, Ala., an adviser to the South Vietnamese 1st Armored Brigade. "We were about 20 feet apart and throwing hand grenades at each other."

"While all this was going on, the armored personnel carriers blasted them with .50-caliber fire every time they came out of their spider holes. The rest of the day we just chased them across the sand dunes into the rice paddies and trapped them in the tree lines."

The enemy dead included the battalion commander, his executive officer, a company commander and an assistant company commander. Among the prisoners were a second company commander and a political officer. Nearly 50 weapons were seized.

"We are certain we destroyed that battalion," said Col. Than Hoa Hiep, commander of the South Vietnamese 1st Armored Brigade.

Hiep said the sapper-commando battalion had planned to attack Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, either before or during the Vietnamese lunar new year Feb. 6. He said the battalion instead pulled back because it was understrength.

Hiep said the battalion apparently was awaiting replacements when the 2,000-man South Vietnamese task force trapped it along the Ly River. Sunday's battle was the biggest in the region this year.

The U.S. Command said two American helicopters were shot down Sunday in other parts of the country. One American was killed and three wounded.

Obetz Man Shot Accidentally While Hunting

John Crabtree, 38, Obetz, was accidentally shot by his 15-year-old son Harold, while on a grouse hunting trip near South Bloomington 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

Crabtree was treated at Berger Hospital.

Also in the hunting party were Luther Crabtree and Jim McGowan, both of Columbus. Crabtree said his son saw him moving through heavy brush and thought it was a grouse.

Shotgun pellets penetrated the upper portion of both his legs. The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department investigated the incident.

Furnace Blaze Destroys Home

A faulty furnace caused a blaze that destroyed the interior of a trailer home at the Morris Trailer Court, Renick Ave., Sunday.

Roger Parsons, owner of the trailer, reported that the furnace had been in need of repair. It apparently flooded with the fuel and was ignited. Firemen were called at 11:59 a.m., but the fire was already well started.

Damage was set at $2000 to the trailer and $2000 to contents.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Southern Democrats should be thrown out of the party, says one leader in the fight against the Democratic leadership in the House of Representatives.

Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., said, "the Southern racist reactionaries and those who represent the remnants of the big city machines" are the chief allies of House Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts.

Asked if his aim is to "throw the Southern Democrats out of the party," Bolling answered:

Stock Market Up Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, with a lack of encouraging news to feed upon, managed only a small gain early this afternoon.

Trading was moderately active. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 0.92 to 754.22.

Advances outnumbered declines by about 200 among individual issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said there was nothing of consequence to bring institutional and individual investors in from the sidelines, but some expressed the opinion that the market's long decline might well have hit bottom.

Glamour stocks, which have been battered recently, were turning in a generally good performance.

The Big Board delayed opening of trading of Jersey Standard, which had set a price of $45 a share for its rights offering to stockholders. The issue closed at 52, off ¼, Friday. It opened later today off 1½ at 50½.

Parvin-Dohrmann, in which trading has been suspended on the American Stock Exchange since last Oct. 13, opened with a plunge of 38½ to 31.

U.S. Backs Germ Pact

GENEVA (AP) — The United States today pledged support for Britain's draft treaty to outlaw germ warfare.

Arriving for a new session of the 25-nation disarmament conference, chief U.S. negotiator Gerard C. Smith told newsmen that America does not have a proposal of its own on the issue of bacteriological weapons.

"We associate ourselves with the British proposal," he said in a prepared statement. "I hope that early progress can be made on an agreement to ban biological methods of warfare, along the lines proposed last year by the United Kingdom."

The British draft treaty calls for a ban on the manufacture, stockpiling and use of "microbial and other biological agents." Last November, President Nixon renounced the development of all germ warfare weapons and gave orders for the disposal of stockpiles.

The game of rugby originated in 1823 at England's Rugby School.

Judge Lamb fined Joy McCabe, 513 E. Franklin St., $10 plus costs for failure to keep her dog confined to her property.

Lenna M. Buskirk, 66, was cited for driving without a valid operator's license when her license had expired late last year. Her $25 fine was suspended.

Whiplash
"Cervical Myofascitis"

A young woman writes: "Nineteen months ago, I suffered a whiplash injury and since have been in almost constant misery. I have severe neck and chest pains and suffer with violent sick headaches and sometimes a wave of nausea sweeps over my stomach. If I turn my head too quickly or put a little pressure on my head or neck, I feel some discomfort. Doctor, can chiropractic help an injury resulting from a whiplash type of blow?"

These are some of the more common symptoms resulting from a whiplash type blow and Doctors of Chiropractic are not unaware of these cases in their offices. Symptoms are usually localized to the spine and nervous system and surrounding tissues of which the chiropractor specializes.

The following is just a case from the files:
A forty-six year old female rushed into a chiropractor's office crying and holding her head exclaiming, "The top of my head is coming off — please do something!"

Emergency treatment was rendered and within a few minutes her head eased for the first time in two weeks.

She had these symptoms, along with neck, shoulder, and arm pains, but nothing seemed to help. And lately, her arm grew numb and tingled. After an examination and case history, it was revealed, several years ago, she had an auto accident and suffered a whiplash type blow to her cervical spine.

X-rays were immediately taken and several displaced vertebrae in her neck and between her shoulders were found. These misaligned vertebrae compressed spinal nerve trunks, causing her miserable pains. After complete correction of the cause, her symptoms vanished.

This woman suffered unnecessary pain for years because she neglected a chiropractic examination at the time of her accident. This could have been prevented and she would have lived a much happier, healthier life.

The chiropractic profession urges a spinal examination by your chiropractor after any auto accident. Insurance companies honor chiropractic claims.

Ohio Solons Plan Vote On 3 Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill to permit school bus drivers to spank unruly passengers will be one of 91 to be heard by legislative committees this week.

The 108th General Assembly was to reconvene tonight. Three bills were scheduled for a vote in the House. No floor action was planned in the Senate.

The bill that would permit a bus driver to discipline passengers is scheduled for hearing Tuesday by the House Education Committee.

It would extend to school bus drivers the same rights under law now held by teachers, principals and administrators.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. James I. Hunt, R-36 Middlefield, would permit the drivers to use "such amount of force as is reasonable and necessary" to quell a disturbance.

A bill to raise the pay of National Guardsmen on active state duty from $12.80 to $25-a-day was scheduled for a floor vote.

Other bills to be voted upon include a measure to permit municipalities to use their share of a county motor vehicle tax for right-of-way purposes and one that would exempt federal pensions from estate taxation.

A bill to tighten restrictions in the filing of financial statements by political candidates will get another hearing by the State Government Committee following tonight's session.

NEW YORK (AP)—It is a rare television program today that is not made in color.

Producers of programs think in terms of color, rely on it, build effects on it. Yet 60 per cent of the nation's television homes still can see only black and white pictures.

This viewer, with a color set hospitalized for emergency treatment, found many black and white programs, particularly weekend sports shows, lacking a vital, enlivening ingredient, like salt in soup.

The initial program of this season's "Experiment in Television" on NBC Sunday afternoon was not an hour that, in any event, would be every viewer's choice. It was a fantasy, "Dream on Monkey Mountain," full of the dreams and hopes of a West Indian black man. It was filmed in Trinidad and performed by a talented native cast.

The story was built on the framework of the last days of an old mountain man who has recurrent visions that he is an African king, freeing his people from oppression. What really happens is that he smashes a village bar and is thrown in an island jail. The drama moves from grim reality to his grandiose visions and nightmares, with village people assuming other roles. However, the native color and scenery would have provided an extra dimension that might have helped fix the viewer's mood and, perhaps, helped his comprehension.

"Uncle Sam Magoo," an NBC special, was a cartoon show that actually was more experimental, in TV terms, than the earlier program. The familiar little near-sighted character, dressed in an Uncle Sam suit, was the viewer's guide on a roller-coaster ride of American history. It started with Leif Ericson and Christopher Columbus and wound up with our astronauts landing on the moon. In between, a chronological mixup of Americana wandered wildly and widely from the arrival of the Pilgrims to Teddy Roosevelt's San Juan Hill charge and all wars.

Mostly the program was done in cartoon style with near-sighted jokes, but the Civil War period was covered with old lithographs and drawings—animated to show the cannons belching flame, and attempts at humor were, happily, temporarily abandoned.

Again, color would have added some 50 per cent to the viewing pleasure. But humor, history, patriotism and cartoons did not seem to mix comfortably.

Survival on the Prairie," an NBC nature special Friday night was, without the addition of color, just another travel-ogue-type hour with a self-consciously poetic script. It specialized in dramatic shots of great expanses of prairie grasses bending to the wind, of snow and of rushing streams—all of which might have been a visual delight. Hugh Downs handled his role as narrator with earnest dignity.

Where there is a fast-moving story—a Western or action show or even a situation comedy—color or lack of color does not make much difference. It might be a good idea if the producers took a look at the product once in a while in black and white.

3 Cage Players Are Hospitalized As Bus Crashes

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Three members of the St. Francis Seminary basketball team from Cincinnati remained hospitalized today with injuries received when their bus and a truck collided early Sunday.

The Fayette County sheriff's office said the bus and a tractor-trailer rig collided on icy Interstate 71 near Jeffersonville, northwest of here, as the bus was returning to Cincinnati from a game in Columbus. The bus was carrying 16 persons.

The bus, driven by Bernard T. Doerger, 35, a priest at the seminary, slid sideways into the rear of the truck. The sheriff's office said the truck driver did not stop after the accident, adding that the driver might not have known the two vehicles had made contact.

Donald Coffman, 17, of Akron, was in satisfactory condition at University Hospital in Columbus with head injuries. Steve Kaelin, 17, and Dave Gehring, 15, were in satisfactory condition in Fayette Memorial Hospital here. Thirteen other students released after treatment at Fayette Memorial returned to the Cincinnati seminary.

Dear Editor:

After reading the article in Saturday's paper, I did some checking on some of council's statements and found out that all of the firemen do not have second jobs, but that some councilmen have two and three jobs.

Does anyone realize how hard it is for a fireman to get a second job? He is on duty for 24 hours and off 48 hours. He would have to find a considerable employer who would let the fireman choose his own hours to work. This type of job is not easily found.

People of Circleville check the figures in Saturday's paper. Compare the present two year and three year salary of the firemen with the second and three year salary offered by council and you'll find that council is offering a cut in salary not a raise. Is this a misprint? I could not believe it.

Council assures us we will have adequate protection from surrounding volunteer fire departments. I have a question. Since these volunteers are from outlying villages and towns and the volunteers have their own jobs; how long would it take them to reach a fire here? How much time would be lost? How much money wasted? How many lives could be lost? Would you be willing to risk your family or home?

I can't understand why the Fire Chief isn't supporting his men. We all stood behind the Police Department in their efforts now let's support our Fire Department. When the City Income Tax was formed, I like a lot of others, thought that it was for a wage increase for all city employees. Since we didn't get our right to vote on it let's at least express our opinions on how the money is being spent.

Thank you.

How much money wasted? How many lives could be lost? Would you be willing to risk your family or home?

I can't understand why the Fire Chief isn't supporting his men. We all stood behind the Police Department in their efforts now let's support our Fire Department. When the City Income Tax was formed, I like a lot of others, thought that it was for a wage increase for all city employees. Since we didn't get our right to vote on it let's at least express our opinions on how the money is being spent.

Thank you.

Most car owners wouldn't recognize their vehicles by the descriptions given them by representatives of the automotive insurers to a Senate subcommittee investigating "auto repairability."

Late model cars were described as "crinkly," with paper-thin bodies and cosmetic bumpers. Oh, those bumpers — they really come in for criticism by representatives of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety.

Tests were conducted by the institute to demonstrate its complaints. The results were almost uniformly disastrous when 1969 Fords, Chevrolets, Plymouths and Ambassadors were bumped into each other at low speeds.

Cars moving at 10 mph were driven into the rear of standing vehicles. The average cost of repairs, as supplied by experienced estimators: $510.15. Vehicles moving at the same speed into the side of another car averaged $673.66 in damages.

The point of all this destruction was to prove that cars are not built to withstand even minor accidents. That is what husbands have been trying to tell their wives for years.

Algeria's Grab

Western capitalists are still having a difficult time convincing the underdeveloped countries of the world that foreign capital and technical know-how are assets, not liabilities. Many of these countries are actively seeking the tools with which to expand their stagnating economies, but many of them also look with suspicion on those who would supply them.

Some of these suspicions undoubtedly are sincere, if misguided. Others are strictly political ploys by homegrown demagogues. One of the most recent examples of the latter is the Algerian seizure of oil properties belonging to an Atlantic Richfield subsidiary.

Since foreign oil firms are still playing a vital role in the development of Algeria's oil resources, the regime thought it necessary to offer a reason for the seizure: It had not been asked to approve last year's merger of Sinclair Oil Corp. and Atlantic Richfield.

If there is such a thing as an expropriation joke contest, that entry ought to win hands down.

When To Retire

In their finite wisdom, men frequently do inconsistent things. Take retirement, a plateau of life welcomed by some people and feared by others.

A century ago, few persons who retained their capacity for work retired. But with improvement in living standards, greater affluency and a growing affinity for pursuits outside the productive cycle, a fixed retirement age became a familiar fixture of industry.

The magic age of 65 is the point of embarkation into the sedentary life.

But life expectancy has refused to slow its progress and constantly promises a healthy, active and longer life to more people.

Many persons today are not "aged" until past 80. Yet the trend is toward earlier retirement. In primitive times, old age came at 40. It was 60 at the turn of the 20th century. By 2000 it may not arrive until the age of 85 or 90.

Unless retirement emphasis changes, there will be many unemployed employables.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — It is hard to say with whom the blame rests, but the evidence cannot be ignored: The stock brokerage business is in a bad way financially, worse off than most people suspect.

In the first six months of 1969 four of every 10 members of the N.Y. Stock Exchange lost money on commission business. Thirteen firms lost more than $1 million each. And the cumulative loss totaled $58 million.

With evidence such as this, the NYSE now wishes to raise commissions on small orders, claiming that much of the red ink results from handling the 30-and-40-share orders of millions of ordinary Americans.

stock, which is close to an average price on the Big Board, the new schedule calls for a commission of $26.20 instead of $17. The new fee would be 2.18 per cent of the order's value.

On a 100,000 share order for the same stock, worth $4 million, the commission would drop from $23,160 to $16,790, or only 0.42 per cent of the order's value, the reduction representing a volume discount.

But how is this going to help the small investor? The argument is that more and more companies have been ignoring him during the past year, even turning him down flat when he sought to do business, because his orders were profitless.

By raising the commissions, the NYSE argues, brokers will be encouraged to seek out small orders once more instead of limiting their solicitations to the mutual and pension funds, bank trust, endowments and life insurers.

Fully 50 per cent of dollar volume on some days is now done by institutions.

Often prices must be set, rather than arrived at by asking-bidding in the typical fashion of an auction market, which the stock exchange is.

Dick Van Dyke Keeps Busy With Far-Sighted Projects

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A far-sighted fellow is Van Dyke. For example: He is now taping a CBS special with Bill Cosby, which will not appear on the network until November.

He is also doing introductions to the CBS showings of "Born Free," scheduled to be a Christmas attraction for years to come, in the manner of "The Wizard of Oz."

He is discussing with Carl Reiner the format for the new Van Dyke television series, which will begin on CBS in the 1971-72 season.

and the daughters, 15 and 8, live on the ranch. Dick said he had no problem keeping busy. One of his latest passions is archeology. He and his wife spend hours digging in the remains of a thousand-year-old Indian civilization which he found on his property.

At any rate, he doesn't miss filmmaking: "I've never really felt comfortable in movies. Well, maybe in this last one. I guess after doing so many pictures I stored up in my cortex some knowledge of what to do. But film acting is still something of a mystery to me."

Besides these things, Van Dyke is looking ahead to his retirement from films, which he will begin on CBS in the 1971-72 season.

All this seems highly visionary, except for the fact that Dick Van Dyke usually ends up accomplishing what he plans to do. Many a beleaguered city dweller talks about escaping the urban mess. Dick did it.

"Some friends told us about this marvelous country in Arizona," he related. "My wife and I went down there, and we fell in love with the place. It's ranch country 45 miles north of Phoenix and 2,500 feet higher, so it is green though still desert. We bought a place that is 180 acres and has a little creek running through it."

"At first my wife and I thought we would use it as a retirement home. But the kids outvoted us. They wanted to move down there right away."

The Van Dykes sold their Cincinnati home and became permanent Arizonians last June. Two of the sons go to college here, midriff.

Television is his bag, and he is looking forward to a renewal of his successful partnership with Carl Reiner on "The Dick Van Dyke Show." CBS agreed that the new series could be made in Arizona, and Dick gloated that there is a modern studio "just a brief Honda ride from my ranch."

For The Moment

"I budget my hours and my energies," says television star Lucille Ball. "Whether it's putting on my lipstick or driving a car I think of nothing except what I'm doing at the moment. That way I don't let other problems gnaw at me at the wrong time."

TV's Gleason Loses

Television star Jackie Gleason's new figure represents a loss of nearly 70 pounds. He did it by dieting on fish, meat and eggs, supplemented by walking 1 1/2 miles each morning with a 12-pound lead-weighted belt around his midriff.

MAE WEST, the only actress who ever had a wartime safety belt (inflatable) named after her, owes her first front-page story to obliging New York cops, who jailed her for giving "indecent performances" in a ludicrous play called "Sex." Miss West pleaded implausibly that her "tender skin, so used to silken underwear, was irritated by the prison's rough cotton garments." She was released, possibly chafed, but undoubtedly famous.

Leading man for Mae West's first film was George Raft, who grumbled that she "stole everything but the camera." When Raft exclaimed, "Goodness, what beautiful diamonds you have," Miss West assured him, "Goodness had nothing to do with it."

In her next picture, "She Done Him Wrong," she created her most famous role—"Diamond Lil"—and introduced a new leading man named Cary Grant. The rest is history.

Desperation Tactics

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

When Tran Quoc Buu, president of the Vietnamese Confederation of Labor, was in the U.S. at the end of 1969, he tried to get it across to some of our dove Senators that the Communist Viet Cong had no intention of living peacefully in "coalition" with non-Communist elements of South Vietnamese society. The Vietnamese labor leader, who had been in a coalition movement with the Communists back in 1946 and had barely escaped with his life, had little success in his endeavors to explain the obvious to the likes of Senators Fulbright and McGovern. So the latest communique from Tran Quoc Buu's office in Saigon, which adds a footnote to the story of the Viet Cong's total lack of concern for ordinary people, would, presumably, have no effect on the Fulbrights and the McGovern even if they could be brought to read it.

persecutions at times rather than become a subservient pawn of any organization.

Just who was being "liberated" from what by the dynamiting is a question that must have left most of the people in Tuyen Duc scratching their heads.

The CVT's own theory is that the Communists in South Vietnam are gambling everything on keeping workers and peasants in a general state of poverty and ignorance so that they may be exploited more easily by Viet Cong agents. The willingness to carry "atrocious strategy" to such lengths as dynamiting a trade union building shows how desperate the Viet Cong has become.

Senator McGovern, the one extreme dove who seems concerned that a blood-bath might follow a Communist takeover in South Vietnam, has proposed that anti-Communist labor leaders such as Tran Quoc Buu should be helped to emigrate once a "coalition" government has been installed in Saigon. But why a "coalition" now that the Viet Cong has been reduced to desperation tactics? Why not turn this emigration business around? Vicente Villamin, a knowledgeable Filipino journalist, reports there are proofs that "the Viet Congs want or could be induced to emigrate to North Vietnam to live under the Communist regime."

Senator Villamin puts his proposition up to H. Ross Perot, the Dallas, Texas, billionaire who wants to do something for American war prisoners in North Vietnam. It would cost about $150 million to move and resettle 200,000 hard-core Viet Cong in places of their own choosing north of the demilitarized zone, or DMZ. This amount is just about equal to the cost to the U.S. of waging war in Vietnam for two days.

H. Ross Perot could probably raise $150 million among his friends. He could demand that the North Vietnamese release the American war prisoners as part of the deal in resettling the Viet Cong where they could live as Communists without having to prey on South Vietnam's labor movement.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What is meant by a histamine headache? My brother has it and has tried to explain it to me. Now I have a headache from the explanation which I absolutely do not understand.

Mr. J.J.R., New York
Dear Mr. R.: There are few medical conditions that are more complicated than headaches of any kind. Dozens of classifications have been made in an effort to clarify them for the physician and for the patient. In most instances, the new classifications only serve to complicate the old ones. I understand, therefore, that an explanation of a histamine headache is confusing but I will try to explain it.

Histamine is a substance found in body tissue whenever it is damaged by injury, infection or allergy. It has been found that some people react to histamine by developing a severe headache. A test injection of histamine in these people will produce a headache within a minute after the injection, starting with flushing of the face and throbbing of the head.

The diagnosis of this type of headache is suspected in male adults who are occasionally awakened from sleep with intense pain around the eyes. Sometimes there is blockage on one side of the nose and tearing of the eye. Often this condition is difficult to separate from another complex headache, migraine.

Has the value of the methadone program for dope addicts been definitely proven? Mr. H.R.G., New York
Dear Mr. G.: A number of well controlled programs to help the dope addict by substituting methadone for heroin are taking place all over this country. Probably the most intensive study is being made at the Beth Israel Medical Center in New York City under the direction of Dr. Ray E. Trussell and his colleagues. A vast program of methadone substitution incorporates specialists in drug addiction, sociology, psychiatry and every ancillary field that can contribute to the rehabilitation of the drug addict.

Not all experts in the field of drug addiction are in complete agreement with the value of methadone. But in a world of despair about this gigantic problem, the methadone approach is serving a valuable function. It must be encouraged to continue despite the fact that everyone recognizes that it is not the complete answer to addiction. If it partially serves to reduce the crime rate and if it brings some ray of hope to those who are caught in the trap and web of addiction of all kinds, the methadone program must continue uninterrupted.

Too often, a study that has great potential possibility is aborted because it becomes a political football and is destroyed rather than helped to survive.

There is no need to X-ray the feet of young children as part of the normal shoe-fitting process.

Nevertheless, Tran Quoc Buu's recent message to me from his own fighting front in South Vietnam is worth passing along. The Vietnamese labor movement, like the AFL-CIO in the U.S., is not an arm of the government. Its concern is with the 450,000 members it has in textile, oil, transport, and tenant farm unions. The Viet Cong should sympathize with Tran Quoc Buu's aim, which is to improve the lot of workers and peasants. But in spite of the "oughts" of the matter, the Viet Cong seized the opportunity during a power failure on the night of January 16, 1970, to blow up the Vietnamese Confederation of Labor's office at Dalat in Tuyen Duc province, with the intention of not only wrecking the trade union center but also of killing the family of Vu Van Loi, the CVT provincial representative who had an apartment in the upper story of the building.

The dynamiting of the CVT office injured two adults and five children. Naturally, the senselessness of the outrage has hurt the Viet Cong's own cause in Tuyen Duc province. The local people know that the CVT has maintained complete independence of political parties, churches and governments; it has even endured persecutions at times rather than become a subservient pawn of any organization. Just who was being "liberated" from what by the dynamiting is a question that must have left most of the people in Tuyen Duc scratching their heads.

Billy Graham Finds Youth Wants It 'Told Like It Is'

EDITOR'S NOTE— Evangelist Billy Graham, sometimes in disguise, has been visiting the hippie and protest scene haunts recently "asking questions and listening to answers." What has he learned from these visits and talks? In the following article written for The Associated Press, Dr. Graham gives his views on modern youth, their aims, their frustrations and their desires.

By DR. BILLY GRAHAM
Written for The Associated Press

No generation has ever been more loved, worried over, spoiled, or caused more concern and frustration than the present one. Millions of adults have thrown up their hands in despair and given up trying to understand modern youth.

The suicide rate among students throughout the Western world is rising to an alarming degree. A 19-year-old boy burned himself to death in a school yard in France recently and left a note saying, "I did it because I cannot adapt myself to this world. I did it as a sign of protest against violence and to see love again."

President Nixon referred to the restlessness, confusion and frustration of young people in his State of the Union address when he indicated that young people need "a sense of excitement, a sense of destiny. The greatest privilege an individual can have is to serve in a cause bigger than himself."

I determined that I was going to do my best to find out what was "bugging" our young people. What are they saying? What are they talking about? I began to ask myself: Is there really a generation gap that is any different from the gap that has always existed between generations?

I began to go to college and university campuses not only to speak but to listen. I put on old clothes and a baseball cap and went to a "love-in" in Winnipeg where several thousand young people were gathered for their "happening". I joined a group of bearded, protesting students at New York University, asking questions and listening to their answers. I sought out a Black Panther leader and listened to him pour out all his bitterness and alarming threats of vengeance. I talked for several hours to an early leader of the Students for a Democratic Society.

Not too long ago I went to the Miami Rock Festival at the invitation of the promoters. As I looked at these quaintly dressed young people with their sheepskin coats, their untrimmed hair and their eyes filled with longing and fanciful dreams, I couldn't help but wonder who had failed them. As they sat around their little campfires at night listening to hard rock music which had lyrics about love, death, heaven, hell and eternity, one boy with long-red hair, starved for love, threw his arms around me and said, "Oh, Billy, I love you. You told it like it is."

Even with all the garish and gaudy manner, I could detect the basic human ingredients common to all the young people I have talked to throughout the world — the need for love, the need for understanding, and the need for purpose.

I went to the other side of the coin and saw a different type of young person than those who make the headlines.

I went to the beautiful YMCA assembly grounds at Blue Ridge, N.C., where 600 Christian athletes were gathered, led by some of the most famous names in sports.

They were strong, clear-eyed, clean-cut, and were studying their Bible, singing hymns and praying.

I went to the University of Illinois where Inter-Varsity had gathered more than 10,000 university students to study the Bible and to discuss morality and religion.

During the past five years I have detected a great change in the composition of the audiences to whom I speak in these great stadiums and auditoriums throughout the world. The audiences are almost invariably from 50 per cent to 70 per cent under 25 years of age. It is the young people who are coming with their searching and questioning, and thousands of them are staying behind to "find".

Modern youth is not reacting favorably to a world created by technology that leaves unsolved the problems of war, poverty, disease, and human nature itself.

Youth are searching for purpose and meaning in life. They are determined to find it even if it means burning the whole thing down and starting over.

The real basic reason that students are rioting and demonstrating is not only idealism but most of them are empty and alienated and theirs is a burning quest for ultimate reality.

Modern young people are asking themselves the same tough questions that bothered Plato, Aristotle and Socrates: I die, I suffer, I must struggle, I am at the mercy of chance, I am involved in guilt. Who am I?

The only book in the world that speaks authoritatively to these "ultimate situations" of life is the Bible. There is an authoritative workable answer for young people today. They can find purpose, meaning and fulfillment in a personal experience with God.

Both the Old and the New Testaments, both Judaism and Christianity, teach that man is alienated from God. They teach that man is a rebel and without God there is no happiness, peace and fulfillment.

Man is basically and essentially a spiritual being. The older generation have made the tragic mistake in our educational system of assuming that man is only a physical being and that materialism will satisfy. Our young people are in full revolt against this concept.

Many people have said, "But you are now 50 years of age; you're too old to communicate with this modern generation." That's a very strange thing. I thought so to.

So I began to ask a lot of young people about it. I find that they want the older generation to act their age. They don't want a social worker, an educator or a clergyman trying to act like a teen-ager. They can detect a phony. They reject hypocrisy. They are looking for sincerity. They want us to "tell it like it is."

I am learning that the Gospel of Jesus Christ that was relevant 2,000 years ago is even more relevant to this "turned on" generation. I intend to continue going where they are and telling it like it is. I believe the majority are listening.

Dear Abby: Help Sought On Religious Question

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I understand that you confer with clergymen when it comes to religious matters, so here is one for you to ask a rabbi.

We recently buried my father. He and mamma had been married nearly 40 years, and daddy always wore the wedding ring mamma gave him. It was his wish to be buried wearing that ring. During his illness he lost a lot of weight, and the ring became loose on his finger, but he wanted so much to wear it until the very end that he wrapped some tape around it.

When dad died and it came time to bury him, the man at the Jewish mortuary (he was not a rabbi) told mamma that according to Jewish law, "we come into this world with nothing and we should leave with nothing," so daddy could not be buried with his ring.

Of course my mother felt terrible but she couldn't do anything about it, so they buried daddy without his ring.

What I would like to know is, was that man at the Jewish mortuary right or wasn't he?

THE DAUGHTER
DEAR DAUGHTER: It is the opinion of the rabbis with whom I have discussed your letter that although the man at the mortuary quoted Jewish "philosophy," it is not Jewish law. But even if it were, the wishes of your mother should have been respected. Too bad your mother didn't consult a rabbi.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to that letter from "HANDSOME JIM IN BOSTON," who wrote, "When my wife and I were married, folks said, 'How could Handsome Jim ever marry that tub of lard!'"

Eleven years ago I married a little 105-pound brunette gal. Since that day she has helped me to raise three lovely daughters that were mine from a former marriage. That little woman has helped me build a business that has been very good to us. So good in fact that we now own five Rolls-Royces and four Mercedes, and one of the most beautiful homes in this city. We don't owe a dime to anyone either.

Right now my little brunette weighs 135 pounds and she's only 5 feet tall, so you can see she's put-on a few pounds. But that doesn't bother me. Last time I noticed she was getting slightly plump, I said, "Honey, if you continue to gain weight I will just have to buy you a bigger mink coat next year." She's the greatest.

JOHN LEWIS, LAWTON, OKLAHOMA
DEAR JOHN: No she isn't. YOU are!

DEAR ABBY: I have had the feeling for a long time that my husband is too fond of his sister. He has a brother he rarely sees, but he MUST see his sister regularly.

I don't think it's jealousy on my part as I know he loves me and I love him dearly, but even though this sister of his is married, her husband and I are "outsiders" when those two get together. I don't think I have an evil mind, Abby, but do you think what I am hinting at is possible? For heaven's sake, do not use my name or town.

SUSPICIOUS
DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Yes, it is possible. But if I were you, I would not harbor any such fear out suspicions. Some brothers and sisters are close and have a very real affection for each other, but that's as far as it goes.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.P.S.: You are so right. Never explain. Your friends don't need it, and your critics will not believe you anyway.

Steel Needs Overseas Helps U.S.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Overseas steel needs are proving a "godsend" for United States steel mills faced with reduced domestic demand, Industry Week magazine said today.

The magazine said exports, now running at an annual rate of 8 million net tons, are sustaining mill operations and keeping production at last year's levels despite the reduced consumption at home.

The publication estimated raw steel production in the nation last week at 2,583,000 net tons, up .8 per cent from the week before.

Industry Week said the American Iron & Steel Institute credits voluntary restraints by foreign producers, coupled with strong overseas needs, with holding imports of steel into the United States to 1,034,000 net tons last year, compared to the 1968 record of 17,959,000 tons.

Value of last year's imports totaled $1.7 billion, down from $1.9 billion in 1968. The institute said the money figure dropped proportionately less than the import tonnage because volume in expensive grades of steel increased in 1969, with stainless steel imports up 5.8 per cent and alloy and tool steels up 11.9 per cent.

The magazine's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade steelmaking scrap dropped to $45.67 last week after hitting $45.91 the week before—its highest level since 1957.

Billy Graham Finds Youth Wants It 'Told Like It Is'

CANNY MOVE—David P. Reynolds, Reynolds Metals executive, and Fran Volow get together with sacks of empty cans in New York to dramatize Reynolds' move to do something about litter—a bounty of half a cent for each aluminum can returned to designated collection centers.

EDITOR'S NOTE—Evangelist Billy Graham, sometimes in disguise, has been visiting the hippie and protest scene haunts recently "asking questions and listening to answers." What has he learned from these visits and talks? In the following article written for The Associated Press, Dr. Graham gives his views on modern youth, their aims, their frustrations and their desires.

By DR. BILLY GRAHAM
Written for The Associated Press

No generation has ever been more loved, worried over, spoiled, or caused more concern and frustration than the present one. Millions of adults have thrown up their hands in despair and given up trying to understand modern youth.

The suicide rate among students throughout the Western world is rising to an alarming degree. A 19-year-old boy burned himself to death in a school yard in France recently and left a note saying, "I did it because I cannot adapt myself to this world. GE Employees Back On Job At Evendale Work Complex

CINCINNATI (AP) — Union employees, who had been on strike 113 days, began returning to work today at General Electric Co.'s suburban Evendale plant after ratifying contract proposals Sunday.

Nearly 4,500 members of Local 647 of the United Auto Workers and 1,400 of the International Association of Machinists Lodge 912 went on strike Oct. 26. So did a total of about 100 workers represented by Lodge 789 of the IAM and Local 20 of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

UAW members were being recalled according to their seniority and all other union workers were reporting on their regular shifts.

Charles Turner, manager of union relations at the jet engine plant, said that "We'll have to work together to restore Evendale plant operations as quickly as possible."

A UAW official said that apparently not all UAW workers would be called back immediately and that it was possible that some might not be recalled at all.

A national agreement was reached Jan. 29 but local issues, including the procedure for employees' return, caused extension of the local walkout.

A GE spokesman said that the proposals were the third management offered to union bargaining committees. The contracts, which cover 40 months and are retroactive to Jan. 26, provide general wage increases of 20 cents an hour the first year, 15 cents 13 months later, and another 15 cents 14 months after the second hike. Cost of living clauses are also included.

"The strike has been the longest in our history and terribly costly," Turner said. "Some pay that was lost may never be made up, and some business may have been lost that will never be regained. But the settlement is fair to all."

William Barnes, international UAW representative, said, "I'm happy with the whole thing. I've never been involved in negotiations where they came out perfect. This is the best possible bargain we could get under the circumstances."

About 550 members of Local 1198 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers at GE's suburban Blue Ash facility will vote tonight on a tentative agreement reached Sunday in their 16-week strike.

Cleveland To Improve Ball Stadium

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The City of Cleveland has launched an ambitious improvement program at Municipal Stadium, home of the Cleveland Indians and the Cleveland Browns.

As part of the program, synthetic turf is to be installed in time for the 1971 baseball season, according to Stadium Commissioner Frank Duman.

The imitation grass, which will cost $650,000, not only will cut maintenance costs but also will make it possible to schedule more than twice as many events in the stadium as now are scheduled.

"We play 90 dates in the stadium now," said Duman. "But with synthetic turf we'll be able to play 190 dates a year—we can rent the stadium for high school games, to the Big Ten, Mid-American and local colleges, for boxing shows, track meets, circuses—we'll get maximum usage."

The synthetic turf will eliminate the present problems of replacing turf torn up during football games. Head groundskeeper Harold Bossard, elated at the prospect, noted Sunday that "this is the 64th consecutive day we have not been able to work on the field because of weather." Bossard has "less than two months left to get everything ready for the Indians' opener on April 7."

Other parts of the improvement program include upgrading the public address system and concession facilities.

Ohio Fires Claim 2; Damage High

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fires claimed the lives of two persons and caused well over a million dollars in damage in Northern Ohio Sunday.

The Royal China Co. in Sebring and the Precision Plastic Co. in Norwalk, were destroyed, as were a house and a plating company in separate fires in Cleveland.

Seven fire companies from Sebring and nearby Alliance and Beloit battled the $1.5 million Royal China Co. fire that nearly destroyed the two-story structure that covered a two-square-block area.

Selwyn Trainer, 63, of the Sebring Volunteer Fire Department, died of smoke inhalation. Another fireman was treated at Alliance City Hospital and released.

Mark Silverberg, president of Royal, estimated the loss but said that by utilizing an unused pottery plant in the community,

75 per cent of Royal's operations could be restored within two weeks. The factory employs 400 to 500 of the town's 4,500 residents.

Sebring Mayor Joseph Harp, a part-time Royal China employee, said the fires were fed by natural gas used to heat the kilns.

Firemen worked for three hours to control a fire at the half-block-square, one-story brick building housing Precision.

No injuries were reported. Cause and the amount of damage were not immediately known.

A worker at Precision Plastic, maker of toys and novelties, said only he and another workman were on duty when they noticed a fire in an adjacent room. "We didn't even have time to shut our machines down," he said. Both fled the injection molding area unharmed.

All Sports, Inc., which manufactures snowmobiles, occupies a section of the large, one-story concrete block factory in Norwalk. Firemen were able to prevent the spread of flames to All Sports, but that plant suffered smoke and water damage.

Irene K. Buehner, 56, of Cleveland's West Side, died of smoke inhalation early Sunday. Mrs. Buehner's body was found by her daughter. Damage in the house fire was estimated at $6,000. Firemen said it was caused by careless smoking.

No injuries were reported in a fire that destroyed the Pentagon Plating Co. on Cleveland's East Side. Damage was estimated at $75,000. It was the third fire in the building in a 12-hour period. Some 65 firemen battled the fire for two hours before bringing it under control.

The first two fires were extinguished quickly. Trains passing on nearby tracks jarred loose a space heater, causing the fires, firemen said. The third fire was believed to have started the same way.

A fire in southwestern Ohio at Armo Steel Corp.'s plant in New Miami caused damage estimated at $100,000. Plant officials said two explosions in a two-foot gas precipitator line touched off the fire. Firemen hampered by a water shortage took two hours to put out the flames.

Rep. Les Arends To Be Speaker

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Leslie Arends, serving his 18th consecutive term in Congress, will deliver the main address March 21 at a dinner in honor of U.S. Rep. Gene Snyder of Kentucky.

Arends of Illinois is the Republican party whip in the House of Representatives.

Frank Middleberg, civic leader and dinner chairman, said that the affair will be held to show "We of Northern Kentucky are fortunate in having Gene Snyder as our representative" and in anticipation that he will announce in March his candidacy for a fourth term. Snyder represents the fourth Kentucky district.

Kidney Foundation Clarifies Coupon Misunderstandings

EDITOR'S NOTE — Misunderstandings on the Betty Crocker Coupon Crusade and the kidney dialysis machine have arisen in the Circleville and Chillicothe areas. The Kidney Foundation of Central Ohio has submitted the following statements for clarification concerning the coupon crusade.

The Kidney Foundation of Central Ohio, a voluntary, non-profit health agency dedicated to the eradication and alleviation of kidney disease in 19 central Ohio counties, is embarked on a Crocker Coupon Crusade to purchase a life-saving machine or machines to help keep central Ohioans alive. 600,000 Crocker coupons or $3,000 will purchase a dialysis machine. Each coupon is redeemed at one-half cent.

The dialysis or blood cleansing machine will be used to keep a central Ohioan alive. Once chronic dialysis has been initiated, it cannot be stopped. If dialysis is halted, the patient will die because the machine does the work of the kidneys which were either incapacitated by disease or surgically removed.

Chronic dialysis is costly. In-hospital treatment runs between $20,000 and $30,000 per year. There are not enough machines to help those in need. Most important, there are too few highly trained dialysis technicians and too few renal doctors and surgeons.

At the present time there is only one chronic dialysis center to serve chronic, non-kidney functioning patients in the 19 counties serviced by the Kidney Foundation of Central Ohio. That center is located at the Ohio State University Hospital, Room 990. It is staffed by highly trained dialysis personnel and is under the strictest supervision of skilled renal physicians, surgeons, technicians and clinicians. As of today, no other central Ohio hospital is staffed or equipped to serve chronic kidney patients. Many patients drive hundreds of miles daily, most twice-a-week to receive life-sustaining treatment at this Ohio State University Hospital dialysis center.

When 600,000 coupons have been received, the first on-loan kidney machine will be purchased with the check from the redeemed coupons. The machine will go to a patient in need of its services — either in a hospital, properly staffed and equipped, or to a patient who has been highly trained, along with a spouse or parent in its use.

Because of the confusion arising from a specifically designated kidney machine recipient, the Kidney Foundation wishes to make it clear that no machine can be earmarked for a specific patient. The Kidney Foundation hopes to purchase a number of machines and to make these available wherever and whenever needed. It further wishes to clarify the misconception that a machine, earmarked for a specific hospital, will serve a purpose. It will serve no purpose because, without trained dialysis nurses, technicians, renal surgeons and physicians and sophisticated blood equipment, the machine will be useless.

At this time, it is useless to buy a machine for an area hospital for chronic dialysis simply because there is no one to staff it properly or to operate a chronic center. At the present time there is only one chronic dialysis center for central Ohioans — Ohio State University Chronic Dialysis Center.

The Kidney Foundation hopes, in the very near future, to establish home-training centers for dialysis patients. It is a dream which we must soon realize unless we are to keep treating only one patient out of 50 and doom the other 49 to what amounts to a death sentence.

The Betty Crocker Coupon Area chairman is Mrs. Helen Kneec. Route 1, Kingston. Local coupon collection points are Circleville City Police station, the Salvation Army store and Revco Drugs.

Cleveland To Improve Ball Stadium

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The City of Cleveland has launched an ambitious improvement program at Municipal Stadium, home of the Cleveland Indians and the Cleveland Browns.

As part of the program, synthetic turf is to be installed in time for the 1971 baseball season, according to Stadium Commissioner Frank Duman.

The initiation grass, which will cost $650,000, not only will cut maintenance costs but also will make it possible to schedule more than twice as many events in the stadium as now are scheduled.

"We play 90 dates in the stadium now," said Duman. "But with synthetic turf we'll be able to play 190 dates a year—we can rent the stadium for high school games, to the Big Ten, Mid-American and local colleges, for boxing shows, track meets, circuses—we'll get maximum usage."

The synthetic turf will eliminate the present problems of replacing turf torn up during football games. Head groundskeeper Harold Bossard, elated at the prospect, noted Sunday that "this is the 64th consecutive day we have not been able to work on the field because of weather."

Bossard has "less than two months left to get everything ready for the Indians' opener on April 7."

Other parts of the improvement program include upgrading the public address system and concession facilities.

Ohio Fires Claim 2; Damage High

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fires claimed the lives of two persons and caused well over a million dollars in damage in Northern Ohio Sunday.

The Royal China Co. in Sebring and the Precision Plastic Co. in Norwalk, were destroyed, as were a house and a plating company in separate fires in Cleveland.

Seven fire companies from Sebring and nearby Alliance and Beloit battled the $1.5 million Royal China Co. fire that nearly destroyed the two-story structure that covered a two-square-block area.

Selwyn Trainer, 63, of the Sebring Volunteer Fire Department, died of smoke inhalation. Another fireman was treated at Alliance City Hospital and released.

Mark Silverberg, president of Royal, estimated the loss but said that by utilizing an unused pottery plant in the community,

75 per cent of Royal's operations could be restored within two weeks. The factory employs 400 to 500 of the town's 4,500 residents.

Sebring Mayor Joseph Harp, a part-time Royal China employee, said the fires were fed by natural gas used to heat the kilns.

Firemen worked for three hours to control a fire at the half-block-square, one-story brick building housing Precision. No injuries were reported. Cause and the amount of damage were not immediately known.

A worker at Precision Plastic, maker of toys and novelties, said only he and another workman were on duty when they noticed a fire in an adjacent room. "We didn't even have time to shut our machines down," he said. Both fled the injection molding area unharmed.

All Sports, Inc., which manufactures snowmobiles, occupies a section of the large, one-story concrete block factory in Norwalk. Firemen were able to prevent the spread of flames to All Sports, but that plant suffered smoke and water damage.

Irene K. Buehner, 56, of Cleveland's West Side, died of smoke inhalation early Sunday. Mrs. Buehner's body was found by her daughter. Damage in the house fire was estimated at $6,000. Firemen said it was caused by careless smoking.

No injuries were reported in a fire that destroyed the Pentagon Plating Co. on Cleveland's East Side. Damage was estimated at $75,000. It was the third fire in the building in a 12-hour period. Some 65 firemen battled the fire for two hours before bringing it under control.

The first two fires were extinguished quickly. Trains passing on nearby tracks jarred loose a space heater, causing the fires, firemen said. The third fire was believed to have started the same way.

A fire in southwestern Ohio at Armco Steel Corp.'s plant in New Miami caused damage estimated at $100,000. Plant officials said two explosions in a two-foot gas precipitator line touched off the fire. Firemen hampered by a water shortage took two hours to put out the flames.

Kidney Foundation Clarifies Coupon Misunderstandings

EDITOR'S NOTE — Misunderstandings on the Betty Crocker Coupon Crusade and the kidney dialysis machine have arisen in the Circleville and Chillicothe areas. The Kidney Foundation of Central Ohio has submitted the following statements for clarification concerning the coupon crusade.

The Kidney Foundation of Central Ohio, a voluntary, non-profit health agency dedicated to the eradication and alleviation of kidney disease in 19 central Ohio counties, is embarked on a Crocker Coupon Crusade to purchase a lifesaving machine or machines to help keep central Ohioans alive. 600,000 Crocker coupons or $3,000 will purchase a dialysis machine. Each coupon is redeemed at one-half cent.

The dialysis or blood cleansing machine will be used to keep a central Ohioan alive. Once chronic dialysis has been initiated, it cannot be stopped. If dialysis is halted, the patient will die because the machine does the work of the kidneys which were either incapacitated by disease or surgically removed.

Chronic dialysis is costly. In-hospital treatment runs between $20,000 and $30,000 per year. There are not enough machines to help those in need. Most important, there are too few highly trained dialysis technicians and too few renal doctors and surgeons.

At the present time there is only one chronic dialysis center to serve chronic, non-kidney functioning patients in the 19 counties serviced by the Kidney Foundation of Central Ohio. That center is located at the Ohio State University Hospital, Room 990. It is staffed by highly trained dialysis personnel and is under the strictest supervision of skilled renal physicians, surgeons, technicians and clinicians. As of today, no other central Ohio hospital is staffed or equipped to serve chronic kidney patients. Many patients drive hundreds of miles daily, most twice-a-week to receive life-sustaining treatment at this Ohio State University Hospital dialysis center.

When 600,000 coupons have been received, the first on-loan kidney machine will be purchased with the check from the redeemed coupons. The machine will go to a patient in need of its services — either in a hospital, properly staffed and equipped, or to a patient who has been highly trained, along with a spouse or parent in its use.

Because of the confusion arising from a specifically designated kidney machine recipient, the Kidney Foundation wishes to make it clear that no machine can be earmarked for a specific patient. The Kidney Foundation hopes to purchase a number of machines and to make these available wherever and whenever needed. It further wishes to clarify the misconception that a machine, earmarked for a specific hospital, will serve a purpose. It will serve no purpose because, without trained dialysis nurses, technicians, renal surgeons and physicians and sophisticated blood equipment, the machine will be useless.

At this time, it is useless to buy a machine for an area hospital for chronic dialysis simply because there is no one to staff it properly or to operate a chronic center. At the present time there is only one chronic dialysis center for central Ohioans — Ohio State University Chronic Dialysis Center.

The Kidney Foundation hopes, in the very near future, to establish home-training centers for dialysis patients. It is a dream which we must soon realize unless we are to keep treating only one patient out of 50 and doom the other 49 to what amounts to a death sentence.

The Betty Crocker Coupon Area chairman is Mrs. Helen Kneec, Route 1, Kingston. Local coupon collection points are Circleville City Police station, the Salvation Army store and Revo Drugs.

All Out Effort Brings Victory

By MIKE VAUGHAN
Herald Sports Writer

Circleville's basketball squad, playing their best game of the season, upended the Waverly Tigers in a wild and woolly fray before a capacity crowd Saturday night, 66-59.

Lawhorn's Legion, after trailing by two at the end of the first quarter, led at halftime by three, 33-30. In the third canto, CHS took an eight point lead and then pressed and stalled the whole fourth period netting 16 foul shots for the win.

"I thought we played an exceptional game defensively and on the boards," the Tiger mentor said after the fray. When Lawhorn was asked about his unusual defense in the fourth period he commented, "If they don't get the ball — they don't get the bucket."

Before the upset, Circleville's senior cheerleaders and basketball players were honored along with the rest of the team in a parent's night celebration. Playing their last home game for the Tigers were Randy Halley, Bryce Brown, Charlie Jackson, Ty Ankrom, Mark Lutz and Dick Walters. Senior cheerleaders included Vicki Ralston, Beth Smith, Joyce Ankrom and Debbie Lowe.

BOTH teams got off to a slow start in the first period with Circleville connecting on only six of 17 shots from the field and Waverly netting only four of 21. Waverly had as much as a six point lead in the quarter but led at the buzzer by two, 16-14.

Circleville's "hustlers" picked up the action in the second canto outrebounding the taller visitors and netting better than 50 per cent of their field goal attempts. The Tigers took a three point halftime lead, 33-30.

Halftime entertainment, as in all the Circleville home games, was provided by the CHS pep band, under the direction of William O'Neil.

With 5:49 left in the third stanza, Waverly tied up the fray at 36-36. But Circleville, determined to upset the confident visitors, had regained a six point advantage with 1½ minutes left. The quarter ended with the locals on top, 59-42.

The fourth quarter brought about Coach Lawhorn's stall. The Tiger combined a full court press on defense and completed 16 foul shots for the victory, 66-59.

Mike Phipps Offered Long-Term Contract

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Browns owner Art Modell says the contract the Browns offer quarterback Mike Phipps of Purdue will be longer "than the one given the average rookie."

"This, said Modell, is because "it usually takes a while for a passer to develop."

Phipps, the Big Ten's "most valuable player" and No. 1 draft choice of the Browns, was in town today for contract talks.

TIGERED UP — The Circleville High School basketball team handed visiting Waverly a 66-59 defeat Saturday. It was only the second loss of the season for the powerful Waverly club while the Red and Black finished with a 5-13 record.

Frazier-Ellis Fight Slated For Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Gospel singing Jimmy Ellis and Joe Frazier, whose style is hard rock, are set to do their real thing tonight—fight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Frazier, champion of six states including New York, rules as heavy favorite over Ellis, the World Boxing Association king, for the scheduled 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

The Las Vegas price on Frazier is 6-1, while New York boxing circles said it's Frazier 5-1 in man-to-man betting. Little or no wagering has been reported.

"I think he's the champion, so he should be the favorite," says Yank Durham, Frazier's manager.

"I'm not betting money so it makes no difference," says Ellis.

Durham predicts Frazier will win by a knockout but has not named a particular round.

"I don't predict," says Ellis' manager, Angelo Dundee, "but I won't be amazed if Jimmy knocks him out."

The fight is set for 10:30 p.m., EST, following a scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout between Gregorio Peralta of Argentina and unbeaten George Foreman, like Frazier an Olympic champion.

The fight will be seen in this country only on closed circuit television at 120 locations with more than 500,000 seats. New York and a 90-mile surrounding area will be blacked out, but New York will be included in the radio broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

It also will be seen via satellite in Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Mexico, South America, parts of Europe and parts of Asia.

Frazier, who won his piece of the title by stopping Buster Mathis in 11 rounds March 4, 1968 has won all 24 of his pro fights, 21 by knockout.

Ellis, a former sparring partner of the deposed Cassius Clay, has won 27, 12 by knockout, and lost five. All of his losses came when he was a middleweight.

Atlanta Defeats Boston 146-125 In NBA Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Atlanta and Boston both broke records Sunday in the National Basketball Association—but Boston's was the wrong kind.

Lou Hudson scored 36 points to lead Atlanta to a record 146-125 victory over Boston. The 146 points, which included 46-of-64 free throw tries, were the most ever scored in Atlanta's Alexander Memorial Coliseum, and the 64 free throw attempts were a Hawk record.

The contest also featured 63 foul calls. The 36th charged to Boston established another Coliseum record.

In other NBA games, Detroit beat Chicago 126-119, Jim Washington scored a career high of 34 points to lead Philadelphia to a 159-125 rout over Phoenix, Los Angeles whipped Milwaukee 98-96 in the last six seconds on a 20-foot jumper by Jerry West and San Diego crushed Cincinnati 150-123.

In Saturday NBA games, the New York Knicks edged Philadelphia 116-114, Milwaukee beat Boston 127-117, Chicago defeated Los Angeles 116-113 and San Diego breezed past San Francisco 141-123.

Hudson set career highs at the free throw line, where he was successful in 16-of-18 attempts. He also hit on 10-of-18 tries from the field, in helping Atlanta remain one game ahead of Los Angeles in the Western Division.

John Havlicek was high for Boston with 31 points.

All Out Effort Brings Victory

By MIKE VAUGHAN
Herald Sports Writer

Circleville's basketball squad, playing their best game of the season, upended the Waverly Tigers in a wild and woolly fray before a capacity crowd Saturday night, 66-59.

Lawhorn's Legion, after trailing by two at the end of the first quarter, led at halftime by three, 33-30. In the third canto, CHS took an eight point lead and then pressed and stalled the whole fourth period netting 16 foul shots for the win.

"I thought we played an exceptional game defensively and on the boards," the Tiger mentor said after the fray. When Lawhorn was asked about his unusual defense in the fourth period he commented, "If they don't get the ball — they don't get the bucket."

Before the upset, Circleville's senior cheerleaders and basketball players were honored along with the rest of the team in a parent's night celebration. Playing their last home game for the Tigers were Randy Halley, Bryce Brown, Charlie Jackson, Ty Ankrum, Mark Lutz and Dick Walters. Senior cheerleaders included Vicki Ralston, Beth Smith, Joyce Ankrum and Debbie Lowe.

BOTH teams got off to a slow start in the first period with Circleville connecting on only six of 17 shots from the field and Waverly netting only four of 21. Waverly had as much as a six point lead in the quarter but led at the buzzer by two, 16-14.

Circleville's "bustlers" picked up the action in the second canto outbounding the taller visitors and netting better than 50 per cent of their field goal attempts. The Tigers took a three point halftime lead, 33-30.

Halftime entertainment, as in all the Circleville home games, was provided by the CHS pep band, under the direction of William O'Neil.

With 5:49 left in the third stanza, Waverly tied up the fray at 36-36. But Circleville, determined to upset the confident visitors, had regained a six point advantage with 1½ minutes left. The quarter ended with the locals on top, 50-42.

The fourth quarter brought about Coach Lawhorn's stall. The Tiger combined a full court press on defense and completed 16 foul shots for the victory, 66-59.

Senior roundballers, Randy Halley and Charlie Jackson, teamed up for high scoring honors with 16 counters each. Halley netted seven of 14 field shots and two of three charity tries while Jackson connected on six of 13 from the field and added four of four free throws.

TY Ankrum added 14 to the Tiger total while Bryce Brown hit for nine, Tom Bowers got seven and Mark Lutz connected for four.

Circleville was 21 of 54 from the field in the donnybrook for 39 per cent while adding 24 of 33 foul attempts. Circleville had ten turnovers in the battle and committed 13 personal fouls while pulling down 37 rebounds. Ankrum and Brown shared the high rebounding honors in the upset with 11 each, Halley pulled ten, Jackson four and Bowers two.

Denny Thompson, with 19 points, was the Waverly high scorer. Thompson netted eight of 21 field shots and three of four foul attempts. Second laurels went to Phil Miller with 16 while Jeff Hopkins had 12 to round out the double figure scorers.

Waverly was 23 of 71 from afield for a 32 per cent average. The visiting Tiger squad also connected on 13 of 21 free throw shots for 62 per. WHS had only five turnovers in the game but committed 24 personal fouls, 11 in the fourth canto. They had 33 rebounds.

Circleville finished their regular season play with a 5-13 overall record and a 2-8 South Central Ohio League mark. The Tigers play Feb. 20 against Pleasant View in the district tourney at the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Mike Phipps Offered Long-Term Contract

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Browns owner Art Modell says the contract the Browns offer quarterback Mike Phipps of Purdue will be longer "than the one given the average rookie."

This, said Modell, is because "it usually takes a while for a passer to develop."

Phipps, the Big Ten's "most valuable player" and No. 1 draft choice of the Browns, was in town today for contract talks.

TIGERED UP — The Circleville High School basketball team handed visiting Waverly a 66-59 defeat Saturday. It was only the second loss of the season for the powerful Waverly club while the Red and Black finished with a 5-13 record.

Frazier-Ellis Fight Slated For Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Gospel singing Jimmy Ellis and Joe Frazier, whose style is hard rock, are set to do their real thing tonight—fight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Frazier, champion of six states including New York, rules as heavy favorite over Ellis, the World Boxing Association king, for the scheduled 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

The Las Vegas price on Frazier is 6-1, while New York boxing circles said it's Frazier 5-1 in man-to-man betting. Little or no wagering has been reported. "I think he's the champion, so he should be the favorite," says Yank Durham, Frazier's manager.

Teays Valley Edges Logan Elm '5' In Thriller, 62-60

Teays Valley withstood a fourth quarter rally by Logan Elm Saturday to edge the visiting Braves, 62-60 in a thrilling finale of the basketball season for both teams.

The win gives the mythical Pickaway County title to the Vikings who have twice defeated Logan Elm and Westfall and also own a victory over Circleville. Logan Elm never led in the game, nor was the score ever tied, but the Braves never quit battling.

With less than 30 seconds, gone in the first quarter, Dale Lambert put a two pointer through the hoops and the battle was on.

BY the end of the first quarter, the Vikings held a 15-11 lead. At halftime the winners stretched their advantage to 38-30.

Never more than eight points separated the two teams and at the end of three quarters the score was 54-46, in spite of five turnovers by the Braves during the period.

In the fourth quarter the Braves started their surge. Playing a catchup game all the way, Chuck Sims drew the Braves within two points, 58-56, with two minutes to play in the game. But they could get no closer.

For the rest of the tilt the two teams matched points. The winning margin came when Lambert sank a pair of pressure packed foul shots with just six seconds remaining to give the Vikings a four point edge.

K. C. Jones canned a shot at the buzzer to keep the margin at two points.

Lambert was the game's leading scorer. He zipped 11 of 28 shots from the field through the nets and made six of 10 chances at the foul line. Eighteen of his points came in the first half.

BOB Tucker, the only junior starting for Teays Valley in Saturday's tilt, made three of eight shots from the field and had a perfect five of five mark from the free throw lane for 11 points.

Larry Dixon made four of ten field goal tries and added two of four at the foul line for 10 points. Ed McCord sank two of 12 shots from the field and was three for three at the foul line for a seven point total.

Ohio University has one hand grasping the 1970 Mid-American Conference basketball trophy after beating Miami at its own game Saturday.

The Bobcats (9-1) own a share of the Mid-American title, thanks to a remarkable comeback for a 58-57 victory at Miami. Ohio U. can shove both hands around the trophy with another win or a loss by second-place Bowling Green (5-2).

Bobcat Coach Jim Snyder sidestepped any talk of the NCAA berth that automatically goes to the conference champion.

"We've got Bowling Green to worry about," he said after the Bobcats came from five points behind with 1½ minutes left and three down with 35 seconds to go.

An in-bounds steal by Ohio U. sub Larry Hunter and a layup by Greg McDivitt with 15 seconds left won it for the Bobcats, who finish their season at home against Bowling Green Feb. 28.

"We blew it," Miami Coach Tates Locke said. His Redskins turned the ball over six of the last seven times they had it and missed two shots in the final seconds.

Cincinnati and Ohio State also grabbed victories to preserve their shaky conference title hopes.

"They took advantage of us at every step," acting Indiana Coach Jerry Oliver said following Ohio State's 100-73 triumph that pushed the Buckeyes' Big six points to round out the Teays Valley scoring.

For Logan Elm, junior guard Chuck Sims came through with 16 points in his first starting role of the season. Sims had a hot hand from the field, making eight of 11 shots.

Senior Rod Riddle scored 14 markers, making five of ten shots from the field and four of nine at the foul line. K. C. Jones notched 13 points on three of seven shots from the field and seven of eight at the foul line.

Greg Fouch added 11 points to the scoring attack making four of eight field goal tries and three of three chances at the foul line. Mark Knece scored six points on three of eight shots from the field.

BOTH Coach Bob Hoover of the Vikings and Chuck Pritchard of the Braves went the entire game without substituting a single player.

Both teams made 46 points from the field. But Teays Valley made 16 of 22 shots from the charity stripe while the Braves made 14 of 20.

Logan Elm committed 14 personal fouls in the game and Teays Valley committed 16 personal fouls.

Logan Elm finished the season with a 7-10 record. Teays Valley won 15 while losing three during the season.

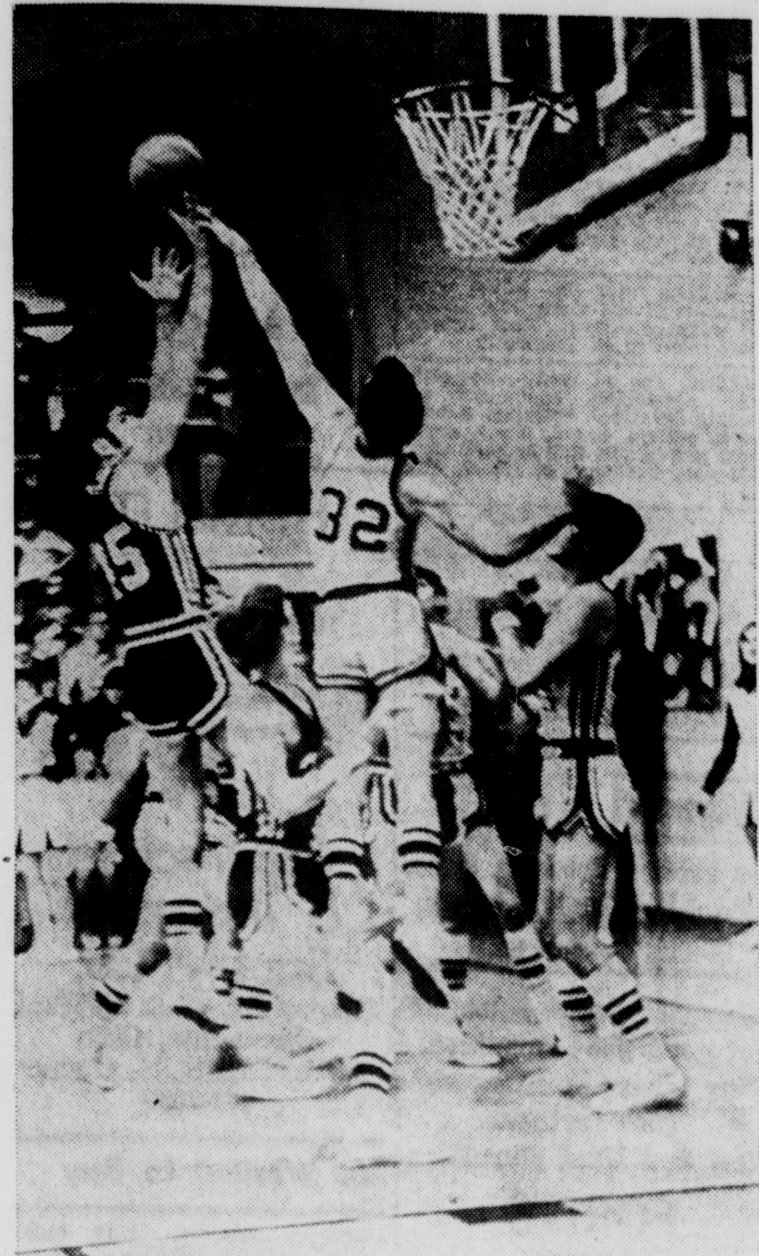

The Braves meet Pickerington 7 p.m. Friday in the Lancaster sectional tournament. Teays Valley plays Columbus Central at 6:30 p.m. Friday in the District Class AA tournament at the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The Logan Elm Junior varsity won the preliminary game, 52-

44, to close their season with a 11-4 record.

TOM Sykes placed the little Braves scoring 17 points. Bob Brown notched 12, Steve Jones and Steve Fischer eight each, Gary Benner three, Alex Jones two and Tim Justice two.

For the young Vikings, Dave Sheets, scored 12 points, Steve Bumgarner and Jack Brinker 10 each, Wilson five, Dean three and Lombardo four.

BLOCKED SHOT — Larry Dixon (32) of Teays Valley blocks a shot by Mark Knece during the Viking-Logan Elm game Saturday. The Vikings won by a 62-60 margin as Dixon held Knece to six points during the tilt.

New York Rangers Tops In Division

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Rangers shattered a National Hockey League scoring record for consecutive games, regained first place in the East Division, and blanked Montreal—all in one day.

Donnie Marshall scored from up close in the first 70 seconds of the game and extended to 118 the number of consecutive regular season games in which the Rangers have scored. The record broke the New Yorkers' old mark of 117 set in 1940-1942. The 2-0 shutout Sunday was the fourth of the season for goalie Ed Giacomin and his first in 2½ months.

In other NHL games, Philadelphia routed Los Angeles 7-1, Pittsburgh dumped Detroit 4-2, Minnesota and St. Louis fought to a 3-3 tie and Chicago beat Toronto 6-4.

Teays Valley Edges Logan Elm '5' In Thriller, 62-60

Teays Valley withstood a fourth quarter rally by Logan Elm Saturday to edge the visiting Braves, 62-60 in a thrilling finale of the basketball season for both teams.

The win gives the mythical Pickaway County title to the Vikings who have twice defeated Logan Elm and Westfall and also own a victory over Circleville. Logan Elm never led in the game, nor was the score ever tied, but the Braves never quit battling.

With less than 30 seconds, gone in the first quarter, Dale Lambert put a two pointer through the hoops and the battle was on.

BY the end of the first quarter, the Vikings held a 15-11 lead. At halftime the winners stretched their advantage to 38-30.

Never more than eight points separated the two teams and at the end of three quarters the score was 54-46, in spite of five turnovers by the Braves during the period.

In the fourth quarter the Braves started their surge. Playing a catchup game all the way, Chuck Sims drew the Braves within two points, 58-56, with two minutes to play in the game. But they could get no closer.

For the rest of the tilt the two teams matched points. The winning margin came when Lambert sank a pair of pressure packed foul shots with just six seconds remaining to give the Vikings a four point edge.

K. C. Jones canned a shot at the buzzer to keep the margin at two points.

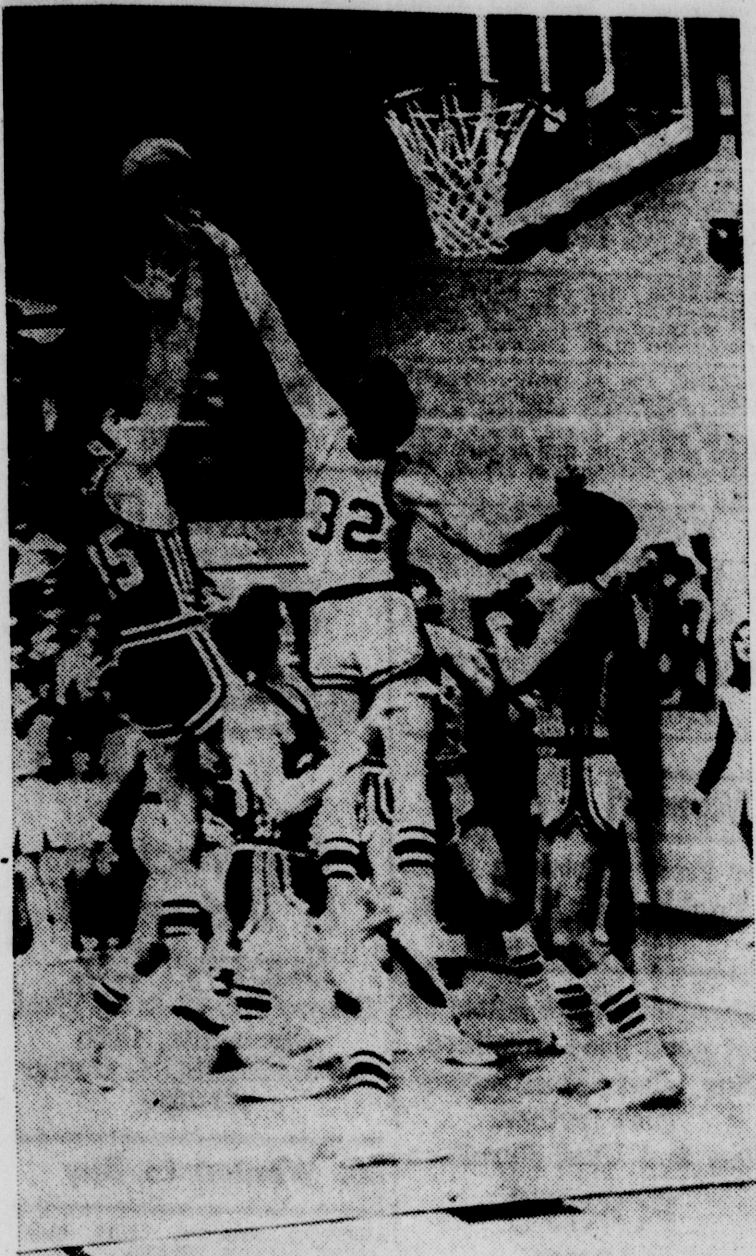

Lambert was the game's leading scorer. He zipped 11 of 28 shots from the field through the nets and made six of 10 chances at the foul line. Eighteen of his points came in the first half.

BOB Tucker, the only junior starting for Teays Valley in Saturday's tilt, made three of eight shots from the field and had a perfect five of five mark from the free throw lane for 11 points.

Larry Dixon made four of ten field goal tries and added two of four at the foul line for 10 points. Ed McCord sank two of 12 shots from the field and was three for three at the foul line for a seven point total.

Ed Combs made three of eight shots from the field for

Tiger Matmen Take 2nd Place In SCOL

The Circleville High School wrestling team capped second honors at the annual South Central Ohio League meet Saturday on the Wilmington mats.

Wilmington won the event with 116 points while Circleville tallied 93 for second. Miami Trace was third with 40 points and Hillsboro got fourth with ten.

Tiger mentor, Brent Bell, commented that all the matches were close and could have gone either way. "Our wrestlers did a real fine job, but Wilmington seemed to get the breaks."

Circleville took four championship medals in the meet with Doyle Kiser winning the 137 pound class, Craig Dresbach taking the 145 pound class, Bill Fowler copping the 175 point division and Mark Davey grabbing the 185 pound title.

"ALL the champs did an exceptional job on the mats and I thought Jeff Harr, Mike Fuller and Gary Robbins did a fine job too," Bell said.

In the 107-pound round, Jeff Harr pinned Rapp of Miami in his first match, but was decided by Lewis of Wilmington in the second round.

OU Edges Miami, 58-57; Title Hopes Rise

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ohio University has one hand grasping the 1970 Mid-American Conference basketball trophy after beating Miami at its own game Saturday.

The Bobcats (9-1) own a share of the Mid-American title, thanks to a remarkable comeback for a 58-57 victory at Miami. Ohio U. can shove both hands around the trophy with another win or a loss by second-place Bowling Green (5-2).

Bobcat Coach Jim Snyder sidestepped any talk of the NCAA berth that automatically goes to the conference champion.

"We've got Bowling Green to worry about," he said after the Bobcats came from five points behind with 1 1/2 minutes left and three down with 35 seconds to go.

An in-bounds steal by Ohio U. sub Larry Hunter and a layup by Greg McDivitt with 15 seconds left won it for the Bobcats, who finish their season at home against Bowling Green Feb. 28.

"We blew it," Miami Coach Tates Locke said. His Redskins turned the ball over six of the last seven times they had it and missed two shots in the final seconds.

Cincinnati and Ohio State also grabbed victories to preserve their shaky conference title hopes.

"They took advantage of us at every step," acting Indiana Coach Jerry Oliver said following Ohio State's 100-73 triumph that pushed the Buckeyes' Big Ten Conference record to 6-3. Jody Finney drilled 27 points, Dave Sorenson 25 and Jim Clemons 21, leading Ohio State into a third-place tie with Minnesota behind Iowa and Purdue.

Cincinnati pumped its Missouri Valley Conference record to 9-3 behind leading Louisville and Drake, whipping Tulsa on the road 72-63. Jim Ard's 21 points led the Bearcats, now 17-4 overall.

Even though the Bearcats managed only 40 per cent of their floor shots, the Cincinnati defense limited Tulsa to 37 per cent shooting.

In other games, Kent State shaded Toledo 61-58 in overtime for its first Mid-American Conference victory, Bowling Green sneaked by Marshall 83-82, Dayton dropped Tampa 88-62, Youngstown whipped Akron 80-69 and Ashland wallpopped Michigan Lutheran 79-49.

Three foul shots at the beginning of the overtime period carried Kent State to a 58-55 lead it never relinquished in upsetting Toledo. Sophomore Roger Evans, who sank the free throws, led Kent scoring with 22 points. The Rockets, who shot only 20 per cent the second half, slipped to 3-7 in the MAC. Kent is 1-8.

Marshall, suspended from the MAC, came back from Wednesday's 93-88 upset of loop leader Ohio U. to give Bowling Green a mighty scare, but Rich Walker canned two free throws in the last 10 seconds to ice the Falcons' narrow victory. Russ Lee led Marshall scoring with 36 points and Jim Penix had 28 for the Falcons.

The nation's No. 2 small college, Ashland, rolled to its 16th straight victory but allowed Michigan Lutheran's Eddie Jenkins to become the seventh man in four years to score more than 20 points against the Eagles' tough defense. He canned 21.

Slumping Youngstown, ranked No. 3 in the last AP small college poll, rebounded from two straight losses to down Akron after Bill Johnson scored 10 straight points to put the game out of reach.

In two games Sunday, Villanova's Howard Porter netted 16 points in the final eight minutes as the Wildcats swept past Xavier 96-79 and Steubenville, paced by Reg Wood's 25 points and Al Canty's 24, put down a stubborn Walsh club 79-71.

In the Ohio Conference, Capital (11-0) wrapped up at least a share of the conference crown by thumping Baldwin-Wallace 101-77. Second-place Wittenberg (10-2) dropped Denison 60-46, Marietta dished Heidelberg 80-77. Oberlin shadowed Hiram 71-51 and Kenyon belted Mount Union 118-109.

Mid-Ohio Conference action saw Malone pick up its first loop victory, 79-76, over Bluffton. Findlay beat Cedarville 80-66 and Defiance extended its conference lead by whipping second-place Wilmington 88-77.

In other games it was Case Tech 79, Thiel, Pa. 73; Washington & Jefferson, Pa. 84, Western Reserve 68; Ohio Wesleyan 85, John Carroll 69; Central State 63, Cleveland State 62; Urbana 127, Northwood, Ind. 86; Muskingum 95, Slippery Rock, Pa. 67; Point Park, Pa. 94, Wooster 75; Union, Ky. 105, Rio Grande 93, and Ohio Dominican 144, Mount Vernon Nazarene 91.

Kuhn, McLain Have Meet; Baseball Star Disappears

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tiger pitching ace Denny McLain remained enshrouded in two mysteries Sunday, mysteries which grow deeper with each day that passes.

There is still no explanation of what "off the field activities" were discussed when McLain, the first pitcher ever to receive the coveted Cy Young award two years running, was questioned Friday by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

As great a mystery is what has happened to McLain since the Friday meeting. Neither he, nor his wife, nor his lawyer nor business manager can be found — not in Detroit, not in Lake-land, where the Tigers are due to open their spring training camp shortly.

Tiger officials have steadfastly declined to comment on the entire incident.

McLain is also known to have met last week with James Ritchie, head of a Detroit-based U.S. Justice Department task force handling an investigation of organized crime and gambling. The subject of that meeting is unknown and Ritchie, like McLain and the men around him, has been unavailable for comment.

Ed Demetrak, McLain's former business manager, says the pitcher talked to federal authorities because their investigation "deals with people Denny may have known."

Demetrak said McLain has done nothing illegal.

Stars Wake Up, Smash Kentucky 121-113 In ABA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Los Angeles Stars Coach Bill Sharman was losing sleep over his slumping American Basketball Association team. Then the players promptly woke up on the court.

The team had dropped its fourth straight game Saturday night, losing 109-103 in Indiana, and, after a long flight, returned home only a few hours before Sunday's game against Kentucky.

The Stars ran away from the Colonels for three periods, took a quick nap at the start of the fourth, then rallied from behind to upset Kentucky 121-113.

In Sunday's other ABA games, Washington stunned Indiana 120-111, Pittsburgh routed Carolina 120-103 and New York downed Miami 108-100. In Saturday night's only other contest, Dallas topped New York 112-106.

Jack McKeon will manage the Omaha Royals for the second straight year in 1970. His team won the American Association pennant last year.

Harry Malmberg will manage the Elmira Royals in the Eastern League this year.

McLain has received considerable publicity recently because of some financial difficulties.

McLain recently took out a $30,000, seven per cent interest debt consolidation loan from Detroit Bank and Trust Co.

Under the terms of his loan, McLain's Tiger paycheck of about $5,000 monthly, will be sent directly to the bank through July 15 to repay the loan.

Davis, 29 received 25 months and 5 days on 23 counts and Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, 31, was sentenced to 8 months on 23 counts.

Penalties for each count ranged from one day for such offenses as failing to rise when the judge entered the court, or Abbie Hoffman's blowing a kiss to the jury, to six months for direct violations of the judge's orders.

A legal team of seven lawyers announced Sunday it was preparing briefs to appeal the contempt sentences. The American Civil Liberties Union criticized the judge's action and said it would play a "very substantial role" in expected appeals.

An ACLU statement issued in New York said, in part, "We find particularly reprehensible the practice of accumulating numerous short sentences imposed after trial and long after the alleged acts or contempt have occurred, as a means of denying a jury trial and other guaranteed rights normally provided in criminal procedures."

A coalition of antiwar group planned a march in New York late today to protest the contempt sentences. Supporters of the defendants demonstrated Sunday outside the Federal Building in Chicago.

The judge took 10 hours Saturday and Sunday to read the specifications of contempt against the nine men.

To Hayden, who criticized the American system, the judge said, "A smart fellow like you could do all right with the system."

He told Weinglass, "An able lawyer like yourself must learn to respect the court. I don't mean bowing and scraping to the judge. I mean respect."

Weinglass said he welcomed the jail term "which will enable me to rejoin the defendants and Bill Kunstler in what has been for me the warmest and richest association of my life."

Kunstler embraced and kissed Weinglass at that point.

Rubin, who often called the judge, "A Hitler . . . a tyrant," ended his presentencing remarks by saying, "This is the closest thing I've experienced to Nazi Germany."

His wife, Nancy, sobbed as Rubin was led out of the courtroom. The defendant shouted at the judge over his shoulder, "Sadist! Sadist!"

The judge took Kunstler to task severely before sentencing him.

"I have never heard a lawyer say to a judge the things you said to me during this trial . . . I am one of those who believe that the increase of crime in this country is due in a large part to lawyers waiting in the wings willing to go beyond professional duty in the defense of a client."

Kunstler read a two-page statement which said in part, "I have tried with all my heart faithfully to represent my clients in the face of what I considered repressive and unjust conduct . . . If I have to pay with my liberty for such representation, then that is the price of my beliefs and sensibilities."

"I may not be the greatest lawyer in the world but at this moment I and Leonard Weinglass are the most privileged. We are being jailed for what we believe in."

Several spectators applauded and the judge ordered them removed, declaring "This circus has to end sometime!"

New Day Care Licensing Requirements Explained

EDITOR'S NOTE: In order to inform the public of the new day care licensing requirements, the State Department of Public Welfare through the Pickaway County Welfare Directors submits the following information.

All day care centers providing care for five or more children must apply for a license after Jan. 1, 1970 and must have qualified and received a license by July 1, 1970, according to

Deadline Set For Personal Property Tax

All persons engaged in business on Dec. 31, 1969, including manufacturers, merchants, contractors, farmers, physicians, dentists, attorneys and accountants are required to file personal property tax returns with the county auditor, on or before April 30, 1970, and report all inventories, supplies, equipment, fixtures, and machinery used in business.

Every person who rents furnished rooms or furnished apartments must file a personal property tax return, listing the furniture, fixtures, and equipment included in rental facilities.

Pickaway County Auditor, Marvin H. Rhoades also reminds persons that all Ohio residents owning investments, such as shares of stock, corporate bonds, municipal bonds, mortgage notes, or land contracts, are required to file personal property tax returns as such property is taxable whether or not used in business.

All personal property taxes paid to the local county treasurer are used in Pickaway county for the support of schools, libraries, health, police and fire services.

Tax blanks may be obtained and assistance received in the preparation of the return at the office of the county auditor. Persons are also reminded that there are penalties in addition to the tax if you fail to file your return within the time prescribed.

Festivities Mark Chinese New Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Week-long festivities ushering in the Chinese Year of the Dog ended with a spectacular parade in the Western Hemisphere's largest Chinatown.

More than 200,000, by police estimate, turned out for the glittering procession of dragons, lions, floats, bands and pretty girls.

San Francisco's Chinatown has an estimated 60,000 residents. Riding midway in the parade was Miss Chinatown USA, Marion Kam Yin Lee, 21, of Honolulu.

No arrests or disturbances were reported along the 14-block route Saturday night although firecrackers sounded constantly, despite a police ban against the explosives.

Fire Department dispatcher Jim Holmes said after the noise had subsided: "There wasn't one false alarm. That's the first time that has happened in 13 years."

a new law passed by the Ohio General Assembly.

The licensing authority is the Ohio Department of Public Welfare, Information and applications may be obtained by writing one of the five State Welfare District Offices located in Canton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus and Toledo. The Columbus District Office is located at 80 South Sixth Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215, or information may be obtained by calling 469-3843.

A fee of $100 or $50 must accompany the initial application for license. The larger fee applies to day care centers having both morning and afternoon programs and an average daily attendance of thirty or more children. The smaller fee applies to any other child day care center.

License renewals, which must be obtained annually, cost $25.

Licensing requirements cover: fire, building and food service inspections; number, age and grouping of children; number and qualifications of staff; amount of indoor and outdoor space; health of children and staff; and special arrangements for care of infants.

Upon receipt of an application and before a license can be issued, a day care specialist is required to visit the day care facility to investigate and prepare a written evaluation of the proposed center. The license to operate can be issued only after the appropriate State Welfare District Office has reviewed both the application and evaluation.

Urging all child day care center operators to apply as early as possible, a spokesman for the Public Welfare Department pointed out that violators of the new requirements can be fined $100 for a first offense, or up to $500 for any subsequent offense.

In addition to the licensing regulations, any day care center receiving federal money must comply with Federal Interagency Day Care Requirements. Those additional requirements cover non-discrimination, grouping of children, parent involvement, center evaluation, social services, health and nutrition and training of staff.

Adult Farmers Set Program On Corn

Howard F. Lord, district manager of the DeKalb Seed Corn Co., will speak at Monday's session of the Adult Farmer Program sponsored by the Vocational Agriculture Department.

Lord will present a discussion on "How the Corn Plant Grows" and a report on the Rolfe plot this evening 7:30 p.m. at the Laurelville High School. The session is open to anyone interested in corn production.

'Spofford' Set For Thursday Opening

Changes brought about by the mass migration of city dwellers from their concrete jungles to the unspoiled country is the subject of the comedy performance of "Spofford," showing Feb. 19 and 20 at Veterans Memorial, Columbus.

"Spofford," starring Hans Conried, is the third of a series of Broadway plays sponsored in the 1970 season of the Theater Guild-American Theater Society.

Conried is cast as a chicken rancher who turns his business over to his son and daughter-in-law. Noting that the former rural locale is fast being overcome by commuters from the big city, he begins a self-education program to be more prepared to understand the inner workings of the suburbanites.

He tackles the project of helping the slickers adjust themselves to the country living, rather like a one-man Welcome Wagon. In doing so, he discovers many of the secrets of his offbeat crowd of cocktail-quaffing individuals.

"Spofford" was written for the stage by Herman Shumlin, based on the popular novel, "Ruben, Ruben," by Peter DeVries. Inspired by his home in Westport, Connecticut, DeVries tells the story of the many authors, actors and advertising men who drive 40 miles daily to the Madison Ave. offices.

The cast included Jerome Dempsey, Kathleen Morrison, Peggy Winslow, Peggy Hagen, Martha Miller, Phillip Schopper, Edmund Williams and Fred Miller.

Tickets are on sale at Central Ticket Office, 37 N. High St., Columbus.

Rhodes Speaks As Supporter Of Israelis

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Calling Israel "an island of democracy," Gov. James A. Rhodes said Sunday the Israelis "are the only friends we have in the Middle East."

Rhodes, campaigning for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator, said in a speech at the Hebrew Academy "all the people in Ohio have a cause to see that this island of democracy continues to exist and that genocide does not happen to 2.5 million people."

The governor recalled that on one visit to Israel he asked Premier Golda Meir what would happen if her country did not receive logistic aid from the United States.

"She answered with one word," Rhodes said: "Genocide."

Dominican Airline Crash Fatal To 102 In Caribbean

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — No survivors had been found early today from a Dominican airliner which crashed in the Caribbean with 102 persons aboard, rescue officials reported.

The passengers included seven U.S. citizens and 45 Puerto Ricans, officials of the airline said.

The Dominican Airlines twin-jet DC9 crashed into the Caribbean about five miles off the south coast of the island of Hispaniola a few minutes after taking off for San Juan, Puerto Rico, Sunday afternoon.

The pilot had radioed that his engines were failing.

The airline said the U.S. citizens aboard, other than the Puerto Ricans, were John Payne, Chicago; Theodore Payne, Salt Lake City; Ruth Atosto, New York City; Gilbert Hays, Florida; Francis Robert Downes of Massachusetts, who lived in the Dominican Republic at Las Matas de Farfan; and two Cubans who were naturalized U.S. citizens, Emerito Perez Acevedo and Concepcion Nanson.

Also aboard were 45 Dominicans, one Spaniard, two Peruvians, an Argentinean and a Belgian priest who lived in the Dominican Republic.

Wreckage was spotted about five miles offshore, and Dominicans air and naval units searched for survivors through the night. An American search plane from Puerto Rico dropped flares over the area.

If no survivors are found, it will be Latin America's second worst air crash.

Among those reported aboard was a former world lightweight boxing champion, Carlos "Teo" Cruz, his wife and two children.

Also aboard were the wife, daughter and sister of Gen. Antonio Imbert Barbera, who assassinated Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo in 1961 and headed a ruling junta after the overthrow of President Juan Bosch. His daughter, Leslie, was going to San Juan to buy her wedding dress. She was engaged to the son of the Italian consul.

Cruz, 32, has been training for a fight next month with Roger Zami in Paris and was to have left for France Wednesday. Cruz lost the lightweight title to Mando Ramos of Los Angeles last year.

President Joaquin Balaguer proclaimed two days of national mourning and expressed his personal sorrow at the tragedy.

Airline officials said the $5 million jetliner had been in service less than two months.

Davis, 29 received 25 months and 5 days on 23 counts and Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, 31, was sentenced to 8 months on 23 counts.

Penalties for each count ranged from one day for such offenses as failing to rise when the judge entered the court, or Abbie Hoffman's blowing a kiss to the jury, to six months for direct violations of the judge's orders.

A legal team of seven lawyers announced Sunday it was preparing briefs to appeal the contempt sentences. The American Civil Liberties Union criticized the judge's action and said it would play a "very substantial role" in expected appeals.

An ACLU statement issued in New York said, in part, "We find particularly reprehensible the practice of accumulating numerous short sentences imposed after trial and long after the alleged acts or contempt have occurred, as a means of denying a jury trial and other guaranteed rights normally provided in criminal procedures."

A coalition of antiwar group planned a march in New York late today to protest the contempt sentences. Supporters of the defendants demonstrated Sunday outside the Federal Building in Chicago.

The judge took 10 hours Saturday and Sunday to read the specifications of contempt against the nine men.

To Hayden, who criticized the American system, the judge said, "A smart fellow like you could do all right with the system."

He told Weinglass, "An able lawyer like yourself must learn to respect the court. I don't mean bowing and scraping to the judge. I mean respect."

Weinglass said he welcomed the jail term "which will enable me to rejoin the defendants and Bill Kunstler in what has been for me the warmest and richest association of my life."

Kunstler embraced and kissed Weinglass at that point.

Rubin, who often called the judge, "A Hitler . . . a tyrant," ended his presencing remarks by saying, "This is the closest thing I've experienced to Nazi Germany."

His wife, Nancy, sobbed as Rubin was led out of the courtroom. The defendant shouted at the judge over his shoulder, "Sadist! Sadist!"

The judge took Kunstler to task severely before sentencing him.

"I have never heard a lawyer say to a judge the things you said to me during this trial . . . I am one of those who believe that the increase of crime in this country is due in a large part to lawyers waiting in the wings willing to go beyond professional duty in the defense of a client."

Kunstler read a two-page statement which said in part, "I have tried with all my heart faithfully to represent my clients in the face of what I considered repressive and unjust conduct . . . If I have to pay with my liberty for such representation, then that is the price of my beliefs and sensibilities."

"I may not be the greatest lawyer in the world but at this moment I and Leonard Weinglass are the most privileged. We are being jailed for what we believe in."

Several spectators applauded and the judge ordered them removed, declaring "This circus has to end sometime!"

New Day Care Licensing Requirements Explained

EDITOR'S NOTE: In order to inform the public of the new day care licensing requirements, the State Department of Public Welfare through the Pickaway County Welfare Directors submits the following information.

All day care centers providing care for five or more children must apply for a license after Jan. 1, 1970 and must have qualified and received a license by July 1, 1970, according to

Deadline Set For Personal Property Tax

All persons engaged in business on Dec. 31, 1969, including manufacturers, merchants, contractors, farmers, physicians, dentists, attorneys and accountants are required to file personal property tax returns with the county auditor, on or before April 30, 1970, and report all inventories, supplies, equipment, fixtures, and machinery used in business.

Every person who rents furnished rooms or furnished apartments must file a personal property tax return, listing the furniture, fixtures, and equipment included in rental facilities.

Pickaway County Auditor, Marvin H. Rhoades also reminds persons that all Ohio residents owning investments, such as shares of stock, corporate bonds, municipal bonds, mortgage notes, or land contracts, are required to file personal property tax returns as such property is taxable whether or not used in business.

All personal property taxes paid to the local county treasurer are used in Pickaway county for the support of schools, libraries, health, police and fire services.

Tax blanks may be obtained and assistance received in the preparation of the return at the office of the county auditor. Persons are also reminded that there are penalties in addition to the tax if you fail to file your return within the time prescribed.

Festivities Mark Chinese New Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Week-long festivities ushering in the Chinese Year of the Dog ended with a spectacular parade in the Western Hemisphere's largest Chinatown.

More than 200,000, by police estimate, turned out for the glittering procession of dragons, lions, floats, bands and pretty girls.

San Francisco's Chinatown has an estimated 60,000 residents.

Riding midway in the parade was Miss Chinatown USA, Marion Kam Yin Lee, 21, of Honolulu.

No arrests or disturbances were reported along the 14-block route Saturday night although firecrackers sounded constantly, despite a police ban against the explosives.

Fire Department dispatcher Jim Holmes said after the noise had subsided: "There wasn't one false alarm. That's the first time that has happened in 13 years."

a new law passed by the Ohio General Assembly.

The licensing authority is the Ohio Department of Public Welfare. Information and applications may be obtained by writing one of the five State Welfare District Offices located in Canton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus and Toledo. The Columbus District Office is located at 80 South Sixth Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215, or information may be obtained by calling 469-3843.

A fee of $100 or $50 must accompany the initial application for license. The larger fee applies to day care centers having both morning and afternoon programs and an average daily attendance of thirty or more children. The smaller fee applies to any other child day care center.

License renewals, which must be obtained annually, cost $25.

Licensing requirements cover: fire, building and food service inspections; number, age and grouping of children; number and qualifications of staff; amount of indoor and outdoor space; health of children and staff; and special arrangements for care of infants.

Upon receipt of an application and before a license can be issued, a day care specialist is required to visit the day care facility to investigate and prepare a written evaluation of the proposed center. The license to operate can be issued only after the appropriate State Welfare District Office has reviewed both the application and evaluation.

Urging all child day care center operators to apply as early as possible, a spokesman for the Public Welfare Department pointed out that violators of the new requirements can be fined $100 for a first offense, or up to $500 for any subsequent offense.

In addition to the licensing regulations, any day care center receiving federal money must comply with Federal Interagency Day Care Requirements. Those additional requirements cover non-discrimination, grouping of children, parent involvement, center evaluation, social services, health and nutrition and training of staff.

Adult Farmers Set Program On Corn

Howard F. Lord, district manager of the DeKalb Seed Corn Co., will speak at Monday's session of the Adult Farmer Program sponsored by the Vocational Agriculture Department.

'Spofford' Set For Thursday Opening

Changes brought about by the mass migration of city dwellers from their concrete jungles to the unspoiled country is the subject of the comedy performance of "Spofford," showing Feb. 19 and 20 at Veterans Memorial, Columbus.

"Spofford," starring Hans Conried, is the third of a series of Broadway plays sponsored in the 1970 season of the Theater Guild-American Theater Society.

Conried is cast as a chicken rancher who turns his business over to his son and daughter-in-law. Noting that the former rural locale is fast being overcome by commuters from the big city, he begins a self-education program to be more prepared to understand the inner workings of the suburbanites.

He tackles the project of helping the slickers adjust themselves to the country living, rather like a one-man Welcome Wagon. In doing so, he discovers many of the secrets of his offbeat crowd of cocktail-quaffing individuals.

"Spofford" was written for the stage by Herman Shumlin, based on the popular novel, "Ruben, Ruben," by Peter DeVries. Inspired by his home in Westport, Connecticut, DeVries tells the story of the many authors, actors and advertising men who drive 40 miles daily to the Madison Ave. offices.

The cast included Jerome Dempsey, Kathleen Morrison, Peggy Winslow, Peggy Hagen, Martha Miller, Philip Schopper, Edmund Williams and Fred Miller.

Tickets are on sale at Central Ticket Office, 37 N. High St., Columbus.

Rhodes Speaks As Supporter Of Israelis

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Calling Israel "an island of democracy," Gov. James A. Rhodes said Sunday the Israelis "are the only friends we have in the Middle East."

Rhodes, campaigning for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator, said in a speech at the Hebrew Academy "all the people in Ohio have a cause to see that this island of democracy continues to exist and that genocide does not happen to 2.5 million people."

The governor recalled that on one visit to Israel he asked Premier Golda Meir what would happen if her country did not receive logistic aid from the United States.

"She answered with one word," Rhodes said: "Genocide."

Dominican Airline Crash Fatal To 102 In Caribbean

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — No survivors had been found early today from a Dominican airliner which crashed in the Caribbean with 102 persons aboard, rescue officials reported.

The passengers included seven U.S. citizens and 45 Puerto Ricans, officials of the airline said.

The Dominican Airlines twinjet DC9 crashed into the Caribbean about five miles off the south coast of the island of Hispaniola a few minutes after taking off for San Juan, Puerto Rico, Sunday afternoon.

The pilot had radioed that his engines were failing.

The airline said the U.S. citizens aboard, other than the Puerto Ricans, were John Payne, Chicago; Theodore Payne, Salt Lake City; Ruth Atosto, New York City; Gilbert Hays, Florida; Francis Robert Downes of Massachusetts, who lived in the Dominican Republic at Las Matas de Farfan; and two Cubans who were naturalized U.S. citizens, Emerito Perez Acevedo and Concepcion Nanson.

Also aboard were 45 Dominicans, one Spaniard, two Peruvians, an Argentinean and a Belgian priest who lived in the Dominican Republic.

Wreckage was spotted about five miles offshore, and Dominican air and naval units searched for survivors through the night. An American search plane from Puerto Rico dropped flares over the area.

If no survivors are found, it will be Latin America's second worst air crash.

Among those reported aboard was a former world lightweight boxing champion, Carlos "Teo" Cruz, his wife and two children.

Also aboard were the wife, daughter and sister of Gen. Antonio Imbert Barbera, who assassinated Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo in 1961 and headed a ruling junta after the overthrow of President Juan Bosch. His daughter, Leslie, was going to San Juan to buy her wedding dress. She was engaged to the son of the Italian consul.

Cruz, 32, has been training for a fight next month with Roger Zami in Paris and was to have left for France Wednesday. Cruz lost the lightweight title to Mando Ramos of Los Angeles last year.

President Joaquin Balaguer proclaimed two days of national mourning and expressed his personal sorrow at the tragedy.

Airline officials said the $5 million jetliner had been in service less than two months.

Middletown Classrooms Deserted

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Classrooms were conspicuously deserted today at Middletown High School and it was not certain when pupils would be recalled.

Monday classes were canceled in the wake of racial disorders Friday that resulted in injuries to six students and four policemen, and the arrest of 13 pupils.

Teachers and officials of the 2,100 member school body were to meet today to plan their next steps concerning the trouble and try to decide when to reopen the school.

Teachers met Sunday afternoon at the school to discuss the incidents and reportedly to show their support of Principal Jesse Mayabb who tendered his resignation Saturday, saying "I can no longer take the responsibility for the safety of the kids."

School and board members were meeting late Sunday night but no specific results were announced. City officials and police also met Sunday.

Sunday morning, ministers announced from their pulpits that parents were being sought to volunteer as monitors when the school, about 14 per cent Negro, reopens.

Mayabb said Saturday that there has been "constant trouble" between races at the school, but Friday's incident was the first real outbreak of any sort.
